Ugly Rumors Against Stanford Intellectual Are Quelled Through Rites

SAN JOSE, Cal., Aug. 22.—(UP)—Behind dark-shaded windows—curiously like a night court session—the careful, purposeful process of picking a jury to try David A. Lamson, Stanford University intellectual, on murder charges went on today in the Santa Clara county court house.

Bailiffs drew the window shades and turned on electric lights as a hot sun beat down on the crowded courtroom where Lamson is on trial charged with slaying his wife, Allene Thorpe Lamson, last Memorial day.

12 Tentative Jurors
Twelve tentative jurors sat in the box as the second day started. Six were women, six men. Opposing counsel had not used any of the 20 preemptory challenges allotted each side. But it was likely only a few of the present 12 will be seated when the presentation of evidence is started.

Lamson had the same jaunty, slightly amused manner he showed the first day. He wore in court the same neat brown business suit. He looked like he might be a member of his own counsel.

Jail attendants said the 30-year-old defendant ate a hearty breakfast and seemed pleased with the progress of the case.

As the court clerk called the roll of the remaining talesmen—only 15 of the panel of 100 were questioned in the first five hours—Dr. Margaret Lamson, the prisoner's sister, beckoned earnestly to Edwin M. Rea, aggressive chief of defense attorneys.

Defense Conference
A whispered conference that lasted several minutes followed. Rea turned and talked in an undertone to Lamson. The latter kept a "poker face" and gave no indication of what Rea told him. The incident caused a flurry in Judge Robert R. Syer's courtroom.

POLICE SLAY MAN WHO SHOT GROCER

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—(UP)—A grocer was shot in his store here last night as he resisted a hold-up, and a few minutes later his alleged assailant was killed by a policeman.

Little hope was held for the life of Constantine Gardikas, the grocer, who reached for a gun when told to raise his hands. He received three bullet wounds in the body.

James Hopkins, newsboy, saw the pair of bandits run from the store. He located Patrolman Walter Harrington on a nearby corner. Harrington saw two men getting into a taxicab and ordered them out.

Andrew Burdin, 19, got out and threw his gun on the sidewalk. His brother, Edward, 22, came out with drawn gun. Before he could shoot, Harrington sent a bullet into him and he fell dead.

REFERENDUM ON WATER POWER ACT DEMANDED

San Francisco Attorney at Work Circulating Petition Over State

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—(UP)—Petitions were circulated today by Fred G. Athearn, San Francisco attorney, asking a statewide referendum on the $170,000,000 state water power act passed by the special legislative session.

Athearn must obtain 70,000 signatures before the latter part of October to make his move effective. The attorney is a land owner in the Sacramento valley, which is affected by the new law providing for construction of water conservation units, dams, power plants and power lines. He is a member of the legal firm of Athearn, Chandler and Farmer and Devlin. He claimed he was financing the petitions personally.

Athearn is opposed to the water power act because it is "revolutionary" and threatens the state "with an enormous debt," he said. Sponsors of the project planned to obtain federal aid in financing construction. Governor Rolph intimated he may call a special election if the referendum petitions obtained sufficient signatures.

CANYON FIRE IS BEYOND CONTROL

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 22.—Racing out of control in Indian canyon, a fire menaced a wide area of the Santa Barbara National forest today as 500 members of the citizens conservation corps battled to check it.

The fire had swept over 500 acres before the C.C.C. workers could be mobilized and moved into the threatened area. No casualties were reported.

At the same time a second forest fire was being fought by 100 C.C.C. youths on Marble peak, near King City.

STATE READY TO SEEK ROAD BIDS

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 22.—(UP)—Bids for a project that will lop off six miles between Sacramento and Oakland will be called about September 1, Earl Lee Kelly, director of the department of public works, announced today.

The project is the American canyon high speed thoroughfare, a $450,000 job. The new route is 12½ miles extending from Cordelia to a point one mile north of Carquinez bridge.

100 WELFARE EMPLOYEES IN L. A. STRIKE

Expect 30,000 Workers to Quit Projects at Noon Protesting Hour Cut

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 22.—(UP)—A county-wide strike of welfare employees, scheduled for this afternoon took an unexpected turn today when 100 dissatisfied workers began peaceful picketing of 5000 men employed on county work relief projects in Griffith park.

Informed the picketers were armed with pitchforks and sledgehammers, police were rushed to the scene, but found a generally orderly group and made no attempt to disperse the crowd. A few men carried tools, but not as weapons, it was explained.

"Relief Workers' Union"
The picketers, wearing sleeve bands with the insignia "Relief Workers Protective Union," confined their activities to distributing handbills to the arriving workers.

The workers, more than 30,000 of whom are on county relief projects, planned to congregate at the Plaza at 1 p. m. for a one-day strike, and to send representatives to the board of supervisors, the city council and the mayor.

They were to protest an order by Earl E. Jensen, county superintendent of charities, reducing working hours on relief projects from eight to six hours daily because of lack of charity funds.

Jensen cut the hours to four last week, but yesterday rescinded the order in favor of a six-hour day at 40 cents an hour. The men are given from 10 to 20 days work each month, depending upon the number of dependents.

"If these men want to strike, there is nothing we can do about it," John R. Quinn, chairman of the board of supervisors declared.

Accuses Radicals
"Jensen and the rest of us are doing the best we know. We are trying to give the most help to the greatest number of unemployed. The strike is the work of radicals. They should realize that by walking out they are not tying up an construction or improvements which must go ahead. Most of these projects were created to give these men jobs, and can wait."

Work hours were cut when charity funds began to run low. The federal government has refused to provide funds for direct relief, making grants only for self-liquidating construction projects. At present the county charity bill is running more than $2,000,000 a month.

All workers who were picketed this morning resumed their work apparently with the understanding they would lay down their tools at noon and join in the general demonstration at the Plaza.

WORLD WHEAT CROP CURTAILMENT LOOMS

LONDON, Aug. 22.—(UP)—Wheat producing nations may be forced to curtail crops for three years if the existing surplus of cereals is to be overcome, leaders in the world wheat conference discovered today.

Large European crops and changed conditions since the Big Four began their deliberations in Geneva last May, were understood to be largely responsible for a proposal to stretch out the curtailment agreement over three years instead of two, as had been urged.

JULY GASOLINE TAX TOTALS $3,320,232

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Aug. 22.—(UP)—California collected a gasoline tax totaling $3,320,232 during July to record the first gain in sales for more than a year, the state board of equalization reported today.

Taxable sales for the month amounted to 111,792,332 gallons, an increase of 7.3 per cent over July, 1932.

THREE NEW DEATHS BRING TOLL TO 15 AS SLEEPING SICKNESS SWEEPS ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 22.—(UP)—The outbreak of encephalitis (sleeping sickness) in St. Louis was described here today as the worst epidemic of the disease this country had ever known by Dr. J. P. Leake, of the United States Public Health Service.

Three new deaths and 23 new cases reported yesterday brought the total dead to 15 and the cases now in confinement to 149, since the malady was first observed here in July.

Situation Serious
"While there is little fear the epidemic will assume the proportions of a plague, the situation must be regarded as serious, as science knows little about the disease," Dr. Leake said. "It is not related to African sleeping sickness, but it is by far the worst epidemic of encephalitis this country has ever known."

Dr. Leake said the worst former outbreak was at Spokane, Wash., during 1919, 1920 and 1921 when 19 persons died over the three-year period. But the total number of patients did not compare to those already ill here, he said.

Will Use Monkeys
Seeking a preventative and cure, the health service has authorized the purchase of a supply of monkeys to be inoculated with virus obtained from the bodies of victims.

Officials were puzzled by the fact that usually the malady breaks out in cold seasons in rural sections, instead of the heat such as St. Louis. Also puzzling was the mortality rate among persons in the prime of life.

HOOPER ASKED COUNTY FACES TO TESTIFY IN HUGE LOSS IN BANKING PROBE FEDERAL FUNDS

Testimony of Sen. Couzens Responsible for Request to Appear

DETROIT, Aug. 22.—(UP)—Former President Herbert Hoover was requested to testify before the grand jury investigating bank failures here. Harry S. Toy, prosecuting attorney, made the request in a letter to Hoover.

Circuit Judge Harry B. Keidan and Prosecutor Harry S. Toy decided to make the request at a conference last night.

Decision to invite the former president to testify came as a result of the deposed testimony of Senator James Couzens, now confined in a three-day appearance before the grand jury, that banks throughout the country were permitted to operate in technical violation of law because of the attitude of the Hoover administration.

Originally Couzens charged that the persistent belief of "everyone connected with the Hoover administration that prosperity was just around the corner" led them to permit banks to operate against the letter of the law.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 22.—(UP)—The Cunard liner California, with 840 passengers aboard, abandoned its attempts to enter the channel and go to its usual anchorage today, and is returning to New York.

"CHISELERS" UNDER NRA PROMISED ECONOMIC DEATH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—(UP)—Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson promised the nation's retail store owners today they would be backed by the NRA in resisting undue wholesale price advances.

"Speculative pricing is just a sign of those old habits which will ruin any plan for recovery," he continued. "It will nearly kill the goose which lays the golden eggs."

"Such seasoned campaigners as you retailers know what price structures should be. You should resist advancing prices by manufacturers and we will back you up within our limits. Here again it is part of our duty to the people to prevent a runaway market."

Johnson called upon the trade for constructive action and left a word of warning that "cheaters and chiselers" would be dealt with in a manner that would bring economic death.

Declaring that "no nation can continue to support nearly 40,000,000 people in destitution," Johnson stressed the "duty of us here" to protect those who co-operate in the NRA movement.

"There is no thought of a boycott here, nor of manhandling, nor violence," Johnson said. "We have provided machinery here in Washington to take care of people who find the grade too steep for them. But when we find a man chiseling behind the Blue Eagle we are going to stop in and remove that Eagle in such a way that the whole world will know it."

ALLIED POWERS SEEK TO HALT GERMAN THREAT

Plan Economic Federation to Maintain Power of Austrian Chancellor

LONDON, Aug. 22.—(UP)—Confronted by a major crisis in German-Austrian relations, France, Great Britain and Italy today sought by means of a Danubian economic federation to maintain Austrian Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss in power and halt the Nazi movement endangering his government.

So serious is the situation that allied governments were talking of the possible necessity of invoking against Germany penalties prescribed by the Versailles treaty in event it was blamed for any mishap in the Dollfuss regime.

Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy is trying to work out a means of economic cooperation between Austria and its neighbors—excluding Germany—which by bringing prosperity will strengthen Dollfuss and remove for the present the unwelcome possibility of an Austrian-Germany union.

Plan Economic Federation
Easing of customs barriers as regards each other's goods and coordination of national railway systems are part of the plans for an economic federation.

Hopes for far reaching rehabilitation through such a plan are linked with the desire of allied governments to keep the diminutive Austrian chancellor in office.

His opposition to militant Fascism has convinced the allies he is a patriot who is fighting to preserve his country's independence against a powerful neighbor.

In Germany, Chancellor Adolf Hitler maintains he is not interfering with Austrian domestic affairs. But his Nazi followers regard Dollfuss as a tyrant, preventing the free expression of the will of Austrians—of whom the great majority are convinced, want union with Germany.

Exiled Austrian Nazis are given facilities by German Nazis for attacking Dollfuss by radio and other propaganda.

See European Threat
Believing that a threat to Dollfuss is a threat to European peace, France has advised new and vigorous protests to Germany against interference with his government.

Britain and Italy prefer a more moderate course.

It is thought that much progress was made at the conferences during the week end between Mussolini and Dollfuss, who flew to Italy to seek aid.

Allied sword rattling at Germany has had effect, but not the effect desired. While Germany gave Mussolini private assurances that Nazi attacks on Dollfuss would be discouraged, it rejected representations which France and Britain made publicly, by calmly denying Austrian-German conflict existed.

Serious Problem
If rehabilitation efforts fail, and the Austrian Nazis defeat Dollfuss either in an election or by forcible overthrow, the allies will be presented with a really serious problem, in which they must

MILWAUKEE SEEKS RECALL OF MAYOR

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 22.—(UP)—Recall of Daniel Webster Hoan, who joined the Socialist ranks under the late Victory League, and for 17 years has been mayor of Milwaukee, was sought today.

The movement was inaugurated by a group advocating his recall as a means of reducing taxes. His friends charged it was led by real estate dealers and speculators whose delinquency in taxes is embarrassing the administration and complicating the city's financial problem.

To divert attention from this situation, Socialists explain, realtors have directed a drive against the mayor, charging that he has refused to lower taxes by not trimming city payrolls beyond a voluntary 10 per cent waiver.

Fortney H. Stark, 25-year-old secretary of the Milwaukee real estate board, is leader of the recall movement as a candidate against Hoan.

Roosevelt Insurance Plan Ready

Fewer and Larger Banking Units Forseen as Cure for Many Failures

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—(UP)—Concentration of the nation's banking resources into fewer and larger units was seen today as the administration worked out plans to put bank deposit insurance into effect on Jan. 1.

President Roosevelt's advisers realize that a sound banking structure must be preserved if the country's recovery program is to be a success and have sought to stamp out the paralyzing stream of banking failures.

Treasury and banking statistics today showed a steady shift in bank deposits since the war to larger and fewer institutions, with a drastic reduction in the number of institutions doing business.

Lost Many Banks
The United States has lost more than half of its banking institutions since the all-time peak of 30,812 in 1921 but actually has increased its bank deposits from

CONTROVERSIES BLOCK ACTION ON NRA CODES

Labor Questions Delaying Agreements for Automotive, Coal Industries

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—(UP)—Controversies blocked the way today for immediate approval of automobile and bituminous coal industrial codes, with recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson indicating a showdown in the coal agreement would be delayed until tomorrow.

"No coal code today," said Johnson as he entered his office for further conferences.

Retail Store Hearing
Meantime, NRA hearings began on a retail store code, designed to place 1,500,000 stores under a fair competition agreement.

The so-called Harrington coal group conferred with the faction favoring the code proposals of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers. The Harrington faction is supporting a general code for the industry, such as the NRA is determined to force through.

The conferences centered about the Lewis proposal of a six-hour day for miners, with indications a compromise might be reached calling for a seven-hour day.

NRA officials planned to call in non-union operators for conferences after the Harrington-Lewis

TAMMANY MAKING OVERTURE TO SMITH

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(UP)—Facing strong opposition for the first time since the days of John Purroy Mitchell, Tammany Hall is making strange gestures of friendship toward the most powerful man in New York democracy, Alfred E. Smith.

The leaders of Tammany believe Smith can help them win the fall election in which they propose to back John P. O'Brien for reelection against the combined forces of all the Democrats who are outside the wigwag and the Republicans who are out of office.

In many quarters, the willingness to invite the former governor back into the fold is construed as an admission of weakness.

The active fusion campaign will begin September 1, after Samuel Seabury has returned from a vacation in Europe where he is accumulating more thunder against Tammany and in behalf of Fiorello La Guardia, the Republican-Fusion candidate.

Partial Check Shows Adoption of NRA Regulations Slashed Unemployment

CONTACT 115 FIRMS

Expect Complete Survey to Reveal Re-employment of Approximately 1000

HUNDREDS of new employees, with salaries reaching a yearly figure of hundreds of thousands of dollars, are listed on Santa Ana payrolls today, as a result of adoption of NRA regulations, it is revealed in a survey launched by The Register.

Fifty-five out of 115 of the firms who signed President Roosevelt's agreement and whose names were on the first honor roll posted at the post office, have placed from 1 to 13 new employees each, with an annual increase in salaries of approximately $128,695.60. One hundred and forty-six workers, 15 of whom are employed on a part-time scale, are now at work for these 56 establishments.

Interview 115 Firms
Out of 779 firms or persons in Santa Ana who have signed the national recovery agreement to date, only 115 had been interviewed today, with every indication that the completed survey will reveal a re-employment total of close to 1000 in Santa Ana.

In many cases employers have increased the salaries of their regular workers from 10 to 30 per cent, in addition to placing new employees at wages several dollars above the minimum.

Although unable to add any regular help under present circumstances, several merchants have cooperated with the president by shortening hours and hiring men and women for their extra work which ranges from one to four days per week.

Most of the merchants dealing in women's apparel have employed with more than 10 new workers, and have announced that additional employees will be placed soon, probably at the beginning of the fall season next month.

Creamery, Bakery Lead
Excellor creamery and the Weber baking companies, each with more than 10 new saleslady, are listed highest on the first part of the survey, which shows several firms have added three and four to their payrolls.

Grocery and clothing stores, tire dealers and garages virtually all have enlisted new help, although many of the smaller establishments have found it financially impossible to increase their staffs.

Builders pointed out that under the present circumstances they can employ but few men. One Santa Ana contractor, however, has added six to his payroll, with three men working only part time.

New employees on a commission basis have not been considered in the survey unless they are receiving a definite salary in addition.

BRIDE DROWNS AT HONEYMOON RESORT

The couple came here for their honeymoon following their elopement from Anza, Riverside county.

Beach Party Ends In Tragedy; Three Girls Drowned

TIDE SWEEPS NINE TO SEA; SIX RESCUED

With two bodies recovered, search was being made off Newport Beach today for the body of the third victim of a treacherous undercurrent that yesterday afternoon turned a pleasure outing of nine young school girls into a day of tragedy.

Those drowned were Joan Gibson, 12, of China, daughter of J. P. Gibson; Matilda Bennett, 15, daughter of V. W. Bennett, of 1003 East China avenue, Ontario, and Celeste Kerr, 15, of China.

The body of Miss Kerr had not been found at noon today despite intensive search by police, life guards and others.

The nine girls, all members of a Sunday school class of the China Methodist church, arrived at West Newport Beach yesterday for a week's vacation, with each girl sharing her proportionate share of the expenses. The girls were accompanied by Mrs. T. T. Tonnor, mother of one of the girls, and Mrs. T. J. Kearns, their teacher.

Swept By Current

Happy over the prospects of a week's respite from the interior heat, the girls plunged into the surf near Ocean avenue. According to witnesses, they were not out far when a strong east current struck. The Gibson, Bennett and Kerr girls were out further than the other six. Miss Bennett made a brave attempt to bring the other two girls to safety and was swept to her death in the attempt.

Isabel Kerr and Helen Bennett, sisters of two of the victims, and Jeanette Tonnor were unconscious when pulled to shore, but they responded to artificial respiration.

Nellie Lewis, Joyce Howell and Doris Bird succeeded in breasting the current with Mrs. T. J. Kearns, their teacher, and were pulled onto the beach in an exhausted condition.

Frank Crocker, Newport Beach fire chief and head of the city life guards, reported today that the body of the Bennett girl, the first taken from the water, was found three blocks east of Orange avenue, where the girls went into the water. The body of Miss Gibson was recovered a half mile further east.

The rescue squad of the Newport Beach fire department worked over the bodies of the two girls for several hours in attempts to revive them.

No Inquest

The bodies were removed to the Dixon-Chester Funeral home at Costa Mesa. Coroner Earl Abbey, who conducted an investigation, decided that inquests were not necessary.

Belief that the body of Miss Kerr would be found somewhere near the Newport Beach pier was expressed today by Chief Crocker. The boat "Tollison" is being used in the search.

Among those assisting in the recovery of the bodies and the attempt to revive the victims were Dick Fricke and Myron Lehman, regular life guards; Wayne Dye, Rex Brooks and Marco Anich, special life guards and Capt. Honoyent of the fire department, working under the direction of Chief Crocker.

Funeral arrangements for the victims have not been completed pending receipt of word from relatives. Miss Gibson's father is now in Oklahoma. Miss Bennett's father is a prominent Ontario business man and a Masonic leader.

Witnesses to the tragedy were forced to run nearly a quarter of a mile to reach a telephone to notify authorities. No guards are stationed at that particular point on the beach.

SELECTION OF LAMSON JURY IS LONG TASK

The tension of the opening day was missing. Prospective jurors talked to each other. They were warned by Judge Syer not to discuss the case. So they spoke instead of their chances of being accepted as jurors.

With the court formalities ended, attorneys resumed the monotonous questioning of talesmen. Over and over they asked whether the prospective juror had any objections to capital punishment, whether he knew any one connected with the case, whether he would convict on "circumstantial evidence alone."

Dugged Alan P. Lindsay, chief prosecuting officer, made much of the question regarding "circumstantial evidence."

Attorneys Argue

There were no known witnesses to play-writing Allene Thorpe Lamson's death. She was found in the bathtub in their home on the Stanford university campus. There were gaping head wounds. An iron pipe was found in a bonfire in the yard. Those were the known facts of the case the state developed. Behind those facts was a theory of a marriage compact cool, the other intense. Observers attached much significance to the trend of Lindsay's questioning.

Lindsay and Rea argued on the equality of the former's questioning. Judge Syer ruled the prosecutor could ask the questions if he used the phrase "death penalty" instead of "extreme penalty."

Lamson's mouth drooped momentarily as this decision was announced but he quickly regained his calm composure.

The first tentative juror to leave the box was Fred Roller, a Palo Alto contractor and brother of an undertaker who conducted Mrs. Lamson's funeral. The state excused him and the real battle over jury choices began.

FORMER MAID IN LAMSON HOME WEDS

SAN JOSE, Calif., Aug. 22.—(UP)—Either Roberts, pretty maid in the residence of David Lamson before the Stanford University writer and actor was charged with the murder of his wife last December day, came to his defense today and quieted ugly rumors.

She was married to Warren B. Sorenson, San Jose high school athlete and a schoolboy lover, as the first day of Lamson's trial ended.

San Francisco newspaper had published the report that Miss Roberts was an expectant mother. The story explained the Lamson defense staff's action in sequestering the ex-maid immediately after Lamson's arrest. But it started other rumors, believed likely to reflect against Lamson in the minds of the jury.

WILL ROGERS says:

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—(To the Editor of The Register:) Well, the "hill billys" beat the "dudes" and took the polo championship of the world, right out of the drawing rooms and into the bunk house. And she won't go East in years, for the West always thought you had to have a birth certificate to play it. Now every cow puncher is herding in the heifers with a corn plaster saddle, and even the "hay heavers" have changed a pitchfork into a polo mallet. Twenty thousand and Chicagoans witnessed Sunday's social massacre. Nineteen thousand of 'em had never seen a horse, much less a polo game. So from now on west of the Mississippi, "old Dobbin" plows in the field only till 4 o'clock, when he will be washed, scrubbed, his teeth polished, and he goes out to the lawn to cavort in what used to be known as strictly a social recreation. Poor old society, they got nothing exclusive left. The movie folks outmarried and outdivorced 'em. The common folks took their cocktails, "near" society took to bridge. Now polo has gone to the buck-wheat belt, so poor old society hasn't even been left a code.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

Edwin Rea, chief defense counsel, was pleased at the wedding announcement, although he had maintained throughout that Miss Roberts' condition had no bearing on the murder trial. The girl had been subpoenaed by both defense and prosecution.

"Her story will clear David Lamson of any stigma," said Rea as he entered the courtroom today.

Open Shop Policy

Delay in automotive code action was caused by controversies over the open shop policy provision of the submitted code. NRA counsel Donald Richberg had asked that the provision be stricken out because it left doubt as to whether the industry accepted the collective bargaining provision of the recovery act.

Representatives of the industry discussed the matter, apparently undecided on what steps to take.

The open shop provision was interpreted by one group as following the spirit of the recovery act. It permits manufacturers to hire workers on the basis of their ability regardless of labor affiliations. The national labor board conferred with union and producers' representatives in an effort to end the Hollywood motion picture strike.

BANK DEPOSIT INSURANCE IS SAFETY PLAN

$38,664,987,000 in 1921 to approximately $41,380,047,000 at present.

Mergers and liquidations as well as the closing during the March holiday of institutions not yet reopened caused the decrease in number of banking institutions. But the net result was believed in administration circles to have put the entire banking structure on a sounder basis and to have made a contribution toward the prospects of success for the bank deposit insurance plan.

Under the 1933 banking act the administration will create the federal deposit insurance corporation to insure deposits of all Federal Reserve member banks and of all approved non-member banks up to July 1, 1936. Temporarily from Jan. 1, until July 1, deposits will be insured in full up to $2500. After July 1, deposits will be insured in full up to $10,000; 75 per cent from $10,000 to $50,000 and 50 per cent above $50,000.

Banks Supply Fund

Most of the guarantee funds will be supplied by the banks themselves and the current trend toward fewer, and possibly larger and stronger, banks is looked upon by many observers as assuring the success of the plan.

Despite the billions of dollars in credit tied up in the bank closings and moratoriums of the last 12 years most depositors have feared far better than they would have had they had their money invested in stocks, bonds, commodities or many other kinds of property which have declined rapidly in price.

Including the 565 mutual savings banks, a total of 14,511 banks in the United States are doing a normal business and hold deposits of $41,380,047,000. These deposits can be withdrawn at will and provide strong backing of public purchasing power.

Table Shows Stability

The following table shows the relative stability of the country's bank deposits during the last 12 years despite a decline of more than 50 per cent in the number of banks:

June	Banks	Aggregate
Open	Open	Deposits
1921	20,312	$38,664,987,000

Jail Two, Fine Seven Here On Liquor Counts

Judge J. G. Mitchell had a busy time in police court yesterday and this morning and passed judgment on seven men charged with drunkenness, two for drunk driving, four on parking violations and one for speeding.

J. W. Barlow and Juan Contreras charged with driving drunk, were fined $150 but both elected to serve 75 days in jail.

Those fined for drunkenness and their sentences were Ralph Otero, $25 or 12 1-2 days, committed; Henry Galiten, $50 days; A. Munoz, 7 1-2 days, committed; Andrew Gallegos, $50 days; Salvador Gonzalez, Garden Grove, $15 or 7 1-2 days, paid fine; Henry Borrego, $15 or 7 1-2 days, committed; and V. Martin, Orange, $15 or 7 1-2 days, committed.

N. F. Garlock, 1544 West Washington, paid an $8 fine for speeding.

F. A. McFarren, B. S. Bartou, Fernan Chavez and J. S. Smart all paid $1 fines for parking violations.

COUNTY FACES HUGE LOSS IN FEDERAL FUNDS

error Ralph asked that he instruct the commission to immediately reallocate the $15,604,324 on a basis in keeping with local unemployment situations.

To protest and discuss the plan of the highway commission in expending the government money, Lotus H. Loudon, chairman of the Southern Economic Council, has called a special meeting of the council for Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce offices. Supervisor W. C. Jerome and other members from Orange county, including Thomas Murphree, O. T. Stephens and Phil Stanton will attend the protest meeting.

Orange county's share, the $458,300, represents 1.5 per cent of the total state highway budget, which includes the federal appropriations. With a population of 118,674, the county has 2.09 per cent of the population of the state. Supervisor Jerome declared that only $52,000 of the sum allocated could possibly qualify as federal relief money.

REDUCTIONS IN SANTA ANA NOT LIKELY, BELIEF

Giving details of public utility investigations now underway but refusing to predict that any reduc-tions would be made for Santa Ana, James E. McCaffrey, gas and electric engineer from the state railroad commission, conducted an informal hearing on utility rates before the city council and a large group of citizens yesterday after-noon in the city hall.

McCaffrey spoke nearly an hour on the utility situation in South-ern California and answered ques-tions from those present. The informal hearing was requested by the council several weeks ago, fol-lowing complaints and signing of petitions that rates in Santa Ana were discriminatory and out of line with other communities.

McCaffrey summarized the ac-tivities of the Southern Counties Gas company with the declaration that within two months, a sweep-ing survey of gas rates would be concluded in Los Angeles and that the railroad commission would make recommendations from evi-dence gathered during the informal hearing. He pointed out, however, that if the gas company did not wish to abide by the commission ruling and took the matter to higher courts, a formal hearing would be necessary and action would be postponed indefinitely.

Power Rates
Discussing the Southern Califor-nia Edison company, the engineer brought out at length the difficul-ties and decrease in business ex-perienced by the power company during recent years. He said that the great drop in consump-tion in the agricultural and industrial fields had seriously impaired the revenue of the Edison company and that further reductions in rates at this time would be unfair, in his opinion.

"Six months ago, the Edison company perfected a zone system of rates which has proved a step in the right direction," McCaffrey stated. "Other reductions have been made from time to time, espe-cially in agricultural rates, and the company has cooperated with the com-mission in every way. Although a formal hearing is not being insti-tuted against the power company, suggestions and recommendations are being made from time to time in matters of policy."

Inequalities in rates are being ironed out as quickly as possible, he emphasized by the engineer. He traced the pioneer development of the company in rural districts and said that the consumers in cities do not always realize that they must bear part of the burden of operation.

Special Rates
One of the chief topics of dis-cussion was the question of low-ing electric power rates to owners of electric refrigerators, such as was done with the advent of electric stoves. Homer Larkin, distributor for an electric refrigerator com-pany in Santa Ana, led the discus-sion on this point and said that several other cities had secured combination rates of various kinds. He also declared that a reduction in the rate for electric refrigerators would aid in meeting gas refrig-erator competition.

McCaffrey said that adjustments would certainly be made in due time and that combination electric rates perfected in other cities, not-ably in the northern part of the state, could be expected here in the future.

Explaining the prevailing high rate for commercial and domestic rates, the expert said that although the domestic consumption of en-ergy was heaviest, the agricultural and industrial rates were lower because large amounts of power were used.

Peak Capacity
"Home consumption is heaviest during the peak hours of total use and consequently, elaborate equip-ment is necessary to provide for capacity consumption," McCaffrey said. "Since these homes use rel-atively little power but consume it during the time of heaviest load, their rates are higher in proportion. Agricultural and industrial con-sumers use a great deal of power, yet such large capacity systems do not have to be provided and rates are lower."

"The commission advocates a combination rate to take care of all electric appliances and the Edison company recognizes that some-thing should be done on the do-mestic rate situation, but nothing has been accomplished to date."

The engineer stressed the ad-visability of having lower com-mercial rates to stimulate business and development, since there are fewer commercial hours used than do-

CALLS FOR WELFARE WORK DROP OFF; 800 EMPLOYED NOW ON RELIEF PROJECTS

A total of 800 Orange county men are being given em-ployment now in the work relief program which is being car-ried on by the welfare department of the county with funds provided by the board of supervisors, who are supplying money for the continuation of the work until federal and state funds arrive here, it was learned today from W. J. Tway of the welfare department.

Tway reported that there are less calls for work this month than for the last two months, due to the increased employment given men in seasonal employment, in-cluding work at the sugar factory, increased activity in the oil fields at Huntington Beach and through other seasonal work.

Last month a total of 3600 men were given work and about 570,000 was expended by the super-visors in continuing the work. A similar sum was spent the pre-ceding month out of county funds, it is expected that a large sum, the amount of which will not be known until later in the month, will be expended this month.

No word has been received from R. C. Brandon, administrator of federal and state relief funds, re-garding what the county may ex-pect as its share of the relief monies. Word is expected any time on the federal money but it is known that the state money will not arrive until the middle of October, when time will have been had to dispose of the 230,000,000 in state bonds voted at the last election for state unem-ployment relief.

Several new projects are being worked by the men employed now, including the swimming pool at the Orange County Boy Scout camp at Limestone canyon and a number of school projects submitted by Greenville, La. Habra, Silverado, Laurel, Newport Harbor Union High school, San Juan Capistrano High school, Placentia grammar school. Most of the school pro-jects are for trimming trees, cleaning school grounds and sim-ilar work. The project at Sil-verado school includes piping water from a spring and building a fence around the school.

The Rev. Miss La Reina Rule, of Hollywood, who is appearing at the Broadway theater this week where she is answering questions for patrons, is known on the stage as "The American Seeress." She is a fifth cousin of President John Quincy Adams and is related to the world renowned astrologist, Evangeline Adams.

The seeress predicts that there will not be any great change in economic or employment conditions until the middle of October when there will be startling change for the better.

Miss Rule's psychic powers have baffled even her parents, it is said, and she uses no confederates or stage helps in answering ques-tions concerning employment, trips, health, business or love. She states that the secret of her power comes from adjusting her subjective mind to the universal mind.

ADOPT RESOLUTION NAMING NEW PARK

Designating the new city park on North Flower street at San-tiago creek, as "Jack Fisher Park" and setting it aside for park pur-poses only, a formal resolution naming the park was passed last night by the city council.

The council announced its in-tention of attending the dedication ceremonies to be held tomorrow night at the park and assist the Disabled American Veterans in conducting the program. It was pointed out that the program is to start at 5 p. m. to be followed with a pot luck dinner.

The park was named in honor of Jack Fisher, World War hero of Santa Ana, at the council meeting last Monday night. Fisher, a former member of The Reg-ister staff and decorated by sev-eral countries for distinguished service during the war, died in 1929 from his wounds. The Santa Ana D. A. V. chapter is also named in his honor.

ESCAPED U. S. PRISONER GETS AUTO, CLOTHING

Faced with the news that Wil-liam E. Boyd, federal prisoner who escaped from the Orange county hospital yesterday morn-ing, had succeeded in stealing a car to make his getaway, sheriff's officers expanded their search to-day over the entire state.

A peculiar feature of the affair is that Boyd stole the car from the home of Samuel B. Clasy at Lincoln and Dale roads, only a few minutes after Clasy ac-cidentally shot his mother-in-law while aiming at a cat. Boyd, clad only in a bathrobe and slippers, ap-parently came to the Clasy home while the injured woman, Mrs. Cora McConnell, was being taken to Anaheim for treatment of the gunshot wounds.

When the Clasy's returned to their home at 6 a. m., they found their car missing, a suit of clothes, shirt and hat gone from the bed-room and Boyd's bathrobe and slippers in the house. Deputy sheriffs had previously lost trace of Boyd after his tracks had been washed out by a freshly irrigated orange grove. The missing car is a green Victoria coupe with license 4C3929 and authorities have asked anyone seeing the car to get in touch with the nearest police officer.

Boyd was placed in the hospital for mental observation after try-ing to commit suicide by eating glass from a mirror. He made a ladder of sheets and dropped three stories to the ground after pry-ing open the hospital window with part of his bed. It was discovered that he shaved before leaving. He was charged with impersonat-ing an officer following an ex-citing airplane chase at March field.

Although Clasy discovered the loss of his car at 6 a. m., he did not report the theft until 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, it was learned. Members of the family re-ported previously that the mother-in-law was preparing to return to her home in Maywood when ac-cidentally shot by Clasy while he was trying to shoot a cat. She was treated at the Anaheim sanitarium.

Smoke Causes Two Fire Alarm Calls

Two smoke scares brought fire-men to the business district this morning and yesterday afternoon but there was no fire or damage. Cigarette smoke coming from a floor heater in the William Loren-zen jewelry store at 106 East Fourth street was seen at 11:42 a. m. today but was gone before firemen arrived. An alarm was turned in yesterday at 5:15 p. m. when dust was seen coming from the trash chutes at the rear of the Spurgeon building but an in-vestigation showed no flames were present.

Survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Kerr and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Eberts, of Bottle Lake, Minnesota; and a brother, Gordon Kerr Jr., Santa Monica.

Supervisors Open Bids On Insurance

Most of the time during the session of the board of super-visors this morning was taken up with opening insurance bids, all of which were referred to Dr. F. A. Slabaugh, county purchasing agent, and which will be acted on next Tuesday.

The bids were for county insur-ance for the county fleet of trucks and other public liability to insure all help, as is required by a new state law. The supervisors re-ceived 31 bids for the insurance.

AUTOIST, P. E. HELD NEGLIGENT IN FATAL CRASH

Funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. Leon N. Maurer, 1927 West Seventeenth street, who were killed when their car was struck by a Pacific Electric car in Long Beach Tuesday afternoon, will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. from the Sunnyside Mausoleum chapel, Long Beach.

Maurer and E. E. Abbott, mo-torman of the Balboa-bound street car, as well as the Pacific Elec-tric company, were all blamed for negligence by the coroner's jury at the inquest held yesterday in Long Beach. The railroad com-pany was blamed for having the wig-wag signal too high so that it was difficult to note the ap-proach of a train and also for having a line of poles parallel to the track which obstructed the view of cars.

Maurer and Abbott were both de-clared negligent for failing to stop for each other, following evi-dence presented by several eye-witnesses to the fatal crash. It was believed that Maurer was blinded by the sun as he was driving west on Seventh street and did not realize a street car was approaching. His car was hurled 70 feet from the impact and both he and his wife were instantly killed. Donald Maurer, 12-year-old son, is recovering satisfactorily from serious injuries at the Long Beach Community hospital.

The Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Santa Ana, of which the Maurers were members, and the Rev. Ewing Hudson, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, Long Beach, will officiate at the funeral services with H. R. Hal-vernson, close friend of the Maurers, and associated with the Goodrich-Halvernson Mortuary of San Pedro, in charge. Interment and other final arrangements will not be de-termined until tomorrow with the return of L. D. Maurer, father of the Santa Ana rancher, who was in Minnesota at the time of the wreck.

The Maurers have lived on their 25-acre orange grove near Santa Ana for the past six years, coming here from Long Beach, where they lived five years. Leon-ard Maurer, 16-year-old son, was a junior at the Santa Ana high school and was visiting with his grandmother in Long Beach at the time of the accident.

Mr. Maurer, 42 years of age, is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Maurer, 235 Coronado avenue, Long Beach; two sons, Donald and Leonard, and a brother, Raymond Maurer, Lynwood. Mrs. Maurer, 41 years of age, is

SET MIDNIGHT FOR POOL HALL CLOSING

City Attorney Clyde Downing presented a new city ordinance regulating the closing hours of pool halls for first reading at the meeting of the city council last night.

If the new law is passed, pool halls will be required to close at 12 p. m. in all parts of the city. At the present time, there is no official closing hour although city police have generally maintained a midnight rule.

OIL COMPANY FINDS BUSINESS MUCH IMPROVED

Significant of increasingly better business conditions in Santa Ana and Orange county, and constituting definite evidence of the effectiveness of advertising in The Register, is the announcement made today by the Gilmore Oil company, through M. W. Thome, manager of its Santa Ana plant, situated at the intersection of Santa Ana boulevard and Chapman avenue.

Seventy per cent gain in volume of "Fortified" Red Lion gasoline sales the second half of June, over the first half, directly following the inauguration of an aggressive advertising campaign in The Register June 15, is reported by Thome.

Other interesting figures follow: More than 100 per cent gain in total volume of business in July, as compared with July, 1932.

Forty per cent gain in August to date, over August, 1932.

Ten per cent increase in dealer outlets in the Orange county territory in the past three and a half months.

"Newspaper advertising and business aggressiveness certainly do pay," Thome said. "These figures also supply evidence to the company that the new gasoline announced through the present campaign, has won widespread public acceptance.

"It is also gratifying to announce that the company has joined the NRA movement for the promotion of prosperity, and has added another man to the payroll here in order to comply with the 40-hour week provision. C. L. Estes, formerly of the advertising department in Los Angeles, has been added to our staff as clerk and yard man, thus enabling us to better care for our delivery service with the remaining members of our organization here."

The Santa Ana plant of the Gilmore Oil company, occupying approximately one and a half acres, is regarded as one of the largest and most attractive among the branches maintained by the company in principal marketing centers of the Pacific coast.

Brea Girl And Pomona Man Wed

BREA, Aug. 22.—Miss Dorothy Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hall, was married to Aldridge L. Payne, of Pomona, at the home of the parents, 329 South Pomona avenue, August 19. Relatives and friends, more than 50 in all, witnessed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Payne will live in Pomona, where Mr. Payne is employed.

WALLOP TO BE CANDIDATE FOR WATER BOARD

William Wallop, superintendent of the Anaheim Union Water company, was last night endorsed as a candidate for election to the new Orange county water district board of directors at a meeting of the water users of District 3 of the new set up, held at the Bradford Avenue grammar school, North Bradford avenue.

The endorsing of Wallop followed a long session, and came on the heels of a motion to appoint a representative from each of the 13 water companies in the district, with two men at large, to meet for the endorsing of a candidate, when S. C. Hartman, Pullerton rancher, made the substitute motion endorsing Wallop. With the withdrawal of the first motion, made by Austin Marshburn, Yorba Linda, and seconded by Dan Henry, Atwood, the endorsement carried without protest.

The territory was well represented, according to Louis H. Hoskins, Anaheim, representing his mother's interest in the district, who suggested that instead of holding another session, the one be enough, and that all come out in the open, hold discussion last night, and indicate their desire concerning a candidate.

Heated Argument
The whole session although quiet at first, developed into a long and stormy affair before conclusion, when H. H. Hale representing the Anaheim Union Water company, and Ralph McFadden, president of the Orange County Farm bureau, held a heated argument about the value of a canal, to bring waters from the upper basins, and the value of spreading water on the debris cone, in San Bernardino county.

McFadden declared that the spreading of water on the upper reaches does not assist in helping the water situation in Orange county to any marked degree, and said "I believe the waters of the Santa Ana river should have unobstructed flow through the channel, to allow percolation in the underground areas, and I know that the spreading in those far away lands does not help Orange county, except as it may do so a little in return irrigation from the districts above Prado. It may help the Anaheim Union Water company, but it doesn't help the pumper, and the small companies."

John Tuffree agreed with Hale's contention that the engineering plan is futile, is one of conjecture and not of proven fact, and agreed further with Hale that the Anaheim Union Water company has agreed to not oppose the plan, so long as it does not interfere with the vested rights of the Anaheim Union water company.

Representatives last night were from the 13 water companies of the District 3, from the large oil company holdings, and large property holders of the district.

At the opening, Ralph McFadden explained the law. Harold Lang presided.

The outlines of District 3 are inclusive of all the unincorporated district east of Anaheim, and the territory east and North of Fullerton, to the water shed and the Santa Ana river basin, with Ball road as the southern line. Anaheim and Fullerton are not included, as incorporated cities.

The Editor of The Register:

Possibly you could give a family in distress a little place in your paper. My husband has been sick in bed with Rheumatism for two months and for a year and a half before that, we have had just a bare existence. During 1928-1929 we owned and operated one of the nicest eating houses in Santa Ana. But for the closing of Main street for the new Santa Ana Boulevard, we had to close the place, and lost several years earnings and since that we have not been able to get back. Next Monday our water will be shut off for the lack of $1.00 to pay it. On the 11th of September school starts and my daughter is supposed to enter Lathrop Junior High school, and she cannot enter without uniforms. We live two and one half miles from the school. The school bus will not pick her up, and I have no transportation for her.

Now, I am not begging, but I want something to do. I am a very good cook either home or restaurant. I can manage an eating house of most any type. Or I can do house work or cleaning, or I could take at least two working people in my home to board and room. I have sought work every place I know about in Santa Ana, but have not had any success.

If you can see fit to publish this letter please do not put my name to it, as I am too well known from better days.

Since writing this letter, my little boy was hit by a car and was unconscious for hours, while he is better he has not passed the danger stage.

Picnics and Reunions

CANADA

The Canadian Society of Southern California announces the annual midsummer Canadian picnic and reunion at the California Zoological Gardens, formerly Selig Zoo, at 3600 Mission road, Los Angeles, near Lincoln park, all day Sunday August 27. Former residents of the British Empire are invited to attend. A big entertainment program has been arranged. Registers for each Canadian province will be established.

NEW RAILWAY SCHOOL RATES GO IN EFFECT

The railroads of the country have adopted a new plan for the sale of tickets to students, teachers and others attending universities, colleges, preparatory schools and other educational institutions for the 1933-34 terms. This new plan, announced today by the Western Railways' Committee on Public Relations, provides for the sale of round-trip excursion tickets from any station to any point at which an educational institution is located, at a substantial reduction in fares.

These round trip tickets may be purchased any day prior to the opening of the educational institution, commencing August 25th and continuing until October 5. Tickets sold during this period will be good for return passage at Christmas time, during the spring vacation, or at the close of school in June. In those cases where the tickets are used for return at Christmas, the students and teachers may obtain similar reduced-rate round-trip tickets between December 25 and January 10 with the return portion good either during the spring vacation or at the end of the school year. Again, for those students or teachers who use the return portion of their tickets during spring vacation, similar tickets will be sold at the same reduced rates from March 15 to April 17, 1934, these tickets being good for return passage when the educational institutions close in June.

This new plan adopted by the railroads permits arrangements to be made for travel requirements for the entire college year, with full information as to facilities and total cost available in advance to college authorities, teachers, parents and students.

JUNIOR POLICE TO ORGANIZE FOR FALL WORK

Organization for the coming school year, planning for a field trip to the Los Angeles county jail, varied entertainment and a swim at the high school plunge are features of the last summer meeting of the Junior Police to be held tonight at the American Legion hall on Birch street.

The boys are going to inspect the Los Angeles jail on September 1 and the details of metropolitan law enforcement will be explained. A speaker will be presented at the meeting by Chief of Police Floyd Howard and the officers will tell the duties of the Junior Police during the coming school months. Musical entertainment will be furnished by the Shafer studios. Following the meeting, the boys will be given a free swim at the high school through an arrangement made by their sponsor, Major A. F. Moulton, supervisor of the summer playgrounds. The members are requested to bring their suits, towels and badges.

-- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

BATTLE
Republican leaders are predicting privately that NRA is going to fail.

When the great social and economic experiment was launched, they shook their heads but withheld judgment. Developments of the past week have led them to believe President Roosevelt tore off a bigger bite than he can chew.

Carrying their prognostications further, the G. O. P. chiefs anticipate a move toward more open and complete White House dictatorship than now exists as a direct result of the Blue Eagle's predicted tallpin.

If things work out as they expect—and in the interests of the nation it is to be hoped they are wrong—the Republican battle-line with Democratic incumbents already is drawn.

One Republican whose high position in the Party entitles him to speak for it, summed up what he and his colleagues look for in January when Congress reassembles, by saying:

"The Republicans are preparing to fight for maintenance of a stable government. It is going to be the old battle between conservatism and radicalism."

G. O. P. reads contend that by General Hugh Johnson's own gauge the attempted regimentation of industry is a failure. Johnson, they point out, said 6,000,000 men would be back at work by September 1. Unless there is a terrific spurt in reemployment in the next nine days NRA will fall far short of this goal.

They also look for the steel and coal industries to carry the National Industrial Recovery Act to the courts the first time an issue arises under their enforced codes.

CRYSTAL-GAZING

When Congress reassembles you may expect to hear Republican orators attacking what they term the inconsistencies of the Roosevelt administration.

They will point to Secretary of State Hull and his constant championing of lower tariffs on the one hand. On the other they confidently expect to be able to cite increased tariffs and even embargoes which they say must go hand in arm with operation of NRA.

To illustrate, the Republicans are now looking into the crystal and forecasting what will happen in connection with the oil industry. The code imposed on oil, involving control of production and price-fixing, is based on domestic consumption. There will be no market for foreign oil if American fields are to be fully protected.

Therefore, say leaders of the minority party, President Roosevelt will be forced to place an embargo on foreign imports.

"FEES"

Although the clause has had little publicity, there is a provision in NIRA that specifically empowers the President to raise tariffs at will or shut off imports entirely. No limit is placed on the extent of tariff boosts—which the law aptly calls "fees."

The Act further instructs the President so to raise tariffs when ever an industry proves that its compliance with a Blue Eagle makes competition with foreign goods impossible without protection.

Republicans are positive that Mr. Roosevelt will be called upon very shortly to carry out this clause.

MOULDERS

Rather paradoxically, the G. O. P. also is preparing to take up cudgels for the consumer. Hereafter always a champion of big business and high prices, the Elephant is going to trumpet about "unwarranted gouging of the public."

And finally, the old war cry against "government in business" is to be raised again.

All this is rather unpleasant rattling at a time when everyone is supposedly putting a shoulder to the wheel.

Yet it reflects accurately what outstanding men of the Republican party are saying in the privacy of their offices.

One moulder of Party policy, writing in to headquarters, referred to NRA as "No Relief Again."

OUT

Robert P. Lamont, Secretary of Commerce under Herbert Hoover, is on his way out as President of the Iron & Steel Institute if steel magnates recently here are to be believed.

Lamont, so the whispering story goes, was picked for the $75,000 job by higher-ups of U. S. Steel on the possibility Mr. Hoover would be reelected. Since the New Deal arrived the industry seems to have decided the Chicago millionaire doesn't speak their language any more.

One of the hardest-boiled codersigners from another industry ran into Lamont the other day. The first gentleman had won General Johnson's admiration when he profanely rose to refute—with facts—assertions on his alleged laxity in whipping a code into shape.

"Why," queried the new Blue Eagle of Lamont, "don't tell 'em blankety-blank-blank-blank?"

"I don't use that kind of language," respo'ed our erstwhile Commerce Secretary.

"Well, you ought to," was the parting reply.

DISPARITY

Shipping men have served private notice on General Johnson they will withdraw from the code if something isn't done about the disparity in working hours between private plants and Navy Yards.

The shipbuilders agreed to a 32-hour week. The Navy is working its men 40 hours.

Private builders say their men won't stay with them if they can get eight more hours of pay weekly in a government yard.

NOTES

Prof. Rex Tugwell, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, is in the Middle West inspecting the wheat fields.

At the time he left Washington he was complaining of the climate here because of his hay fever. He probably will come back thoroughly sold on rigid control of wheat production.

The city desk of a local paper got a thrill the other night when a voice came over the phone offering "details of the NRA shooting."

No reporters were dispatched to General Johnson's office, however. It seems NRA in this instance stood for National Rifle Association. The marksmen have called themselves NRA since '71.

A reporter covering National Recovery Administration summed the current situation up neatly when he said: "Things have now reached the objecting, squawking, chiseling stage."

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

POKER
The government added a large leaf to its laurels at poker last week.

The occasion was the collapse of the grain market to the maximum limit allowed as soon as prices were unpegged on August 16th. It looked bad for the home team. Wall Street's prophets of woe were in full cry. Currency inflationists nearly wore out their tongues that day yelling for their pet remedy.

Next morning prices again dropped the limit at the opening. The gloom deepened. But soon buying orders came in. Grain prices rocketed up nearly to their top limit. Stocks followed suit amid scenes of joy in customers' rooms.

Life in Wall Street again became worth living. There was much gossip about a mysterious pool which had saved the day.

There wasn't any pool. It was much simpler than that.

You see, the millers haven't liked the way things were going. They got no thrill at all out of dollar wheat.

So they organized a sort of informal buyers' strike—aided by speculators for the short side. Drying up of this normal source of buying of course made prices drop, which was what they wanted.

But just when things seemed to be getting out of hand Secretary Wallace made it known—without any great fanfare of publicity—that if grain kept on dropping the processing tax would be jacked up. The millers thought that over—it didn't take them long—and decided it was time to buy. The rest is history.

One Wall Streeter commented:

"It just doesn't pay to try to bluff those birds in Washington. Not only do they know their poker but they have the most aces."

POOL

A huge pool to support the commodity markets was in fact discussed last week. It was to be a sort of commodity investment trust. The idea had backing in both New York and Chicago.

The Investment Trust angle would have run afoul of the Securities Act, which requires twenty days' notice. Some of the boys thought the emergency could be met by a sort of gentlemen's agreement for the participants all to purchase at the same time. It might have worked if all the parties had been intervention. Secretary Wallace's intervention made it unnecessary to put them to the test.

DOLLAR

At the same time that grain prices were pulling an about-face there was a little selling of the dollar from inspired sources. Of course it was very unofficial and the amount involved was small.

But the exchange market is so thin that it doesn't take much volume to move it. Result: the dollar began to slip again in terms of the pound and franc.

This delicate maneuver neatly took the wind out of inflationists' sails. What more could they ask than rising prices and a falling dollar?

INFLATION

Inside New York hears that definite plans have been laid to make the hollowing of inflation talk apparent in a short time. They say that when inflation comes it won't come in connection with conversation. Publicity for the real article is no part of the picture.

Some local observers go even farther. They predict that inflation will be here two months before people catch on.

PROPAGANDA

Well-posted insiders will tell you that George Sylvester Viereck's current visit to Germany is by special invitation of the Nazi department of propaganda. Mr. Viereck was accompanied on his travels by a representative of a skillful New York publicity organization. The results will probably become apparent soon after they return.

It is worth noting that the publicity organization in question formerly handled American public relations for ex-President Machado of Cuba. Maybe the Nazis figured if they could do a good job for him they could do it for anybody.

SIDELIGHTS

The Dutch were puzzled for awhile by an unprecedented influx of Germans who came to Holland and opened garages. . . . It turns out they are Nazi agents. . . . They can watch the roads and reach travelers with propaganda. . . . The Dutch don't like it. . . . Chicago certainly stole the spotlight from Wall Street while the grain market excitement was on. . . . No trader here dared breathe without learning the latest from Chicago. . . . New York is pessimistic about the cotton price outlook. . . . Says the only thing for Washington to do is breed bigger and better boll weevils.

BYGONES ARE BYGONES

You wouldn't think from the above picture that several disparaging words were exchanged between Joe McCarthy, left, and Rogers Hornsby when the latter succeeded the former as manager of the Chicago Cubs several years ago. The differences, however, were apparently patched up when Joe's Yanks met Rogers' Browns at St. Louis recently, for the two are displaying all the symptoms of friendship.

GIANTS MELLOWED BY YEARS

Players Wear White Trousers Under Rule of Terry

SNYDER LONE 'M'GRAW MAN'

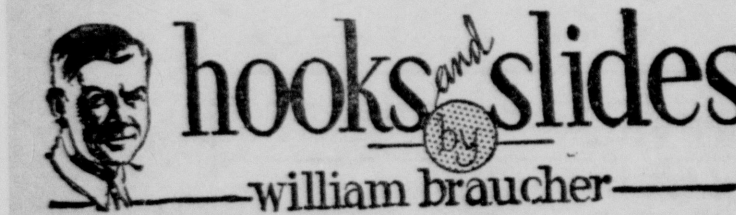

BY BILL CORUM
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(INS)—Be careful, said Manager Bill Terry to Pitcher LeRoy Parnell, or you will get your white pants dirty.

Manager Terry was not trying to be funny. He was simply calling Parnell's attention to the fact that he had been spotted on the bench wearing white trousers under the rule of Terry.

White pants in the Giants' clubhouse in the days when John was Mussolini of the Polo Grounds were as rare as pictures of Seagrave in Tammany Hall, and a rookie could have been shot for wearing them.

Nothing, it seemed to me, would have been the same. Or so I was thinking when the broad back of Mr. Frank (Pancho) Snyder suddenly appeared in the locker room. Only that then, was the same. The big, amiable Texan was a holdover from that other day. All the others were scattered and gone.

McGraw was not there and Uncle Berman Bulger, who would

The trouble with the team itself seems to be that the boys can't score when the Brooklyn pitchers are clicking and do not score enough when the pitchers have a bad day.

OLIVE GUNS FOR FIRST WIN OVER S. A.

SANDS HITTING SPORT ADDS TO INTEREST HERE

Determined to win at least once from the Stars before they disband for the season, Olive's Packers invaded the Santa Ana Bowl tonight for a National Night league ball game of interest chiefly because it marks the effort of Olive's Ora Sands to his safety in his thirty-third successive game. The Stars have beaten the Packers four straight times.

Sands has only to get past Santa Ana, and Torrance Friday, to achieve the most notable batting record ever established in night baseball. He has managed to gather at least one blow in every game this year, although a storm of protest followed the Olive-Westminster contest last week when many observers said the one hit with pitcher "Fuzzy" Errington was a rank error. Since Olive was the home club, Olive's scorer was the official scorer, and Sands' hit stood.

The Olive outfielder never has had much trouble hitting Santa Ana's pitchers, however, although tonight he'll be looking at some rather good fast-ball flinging from young Wilbur Stinchfield, who really lives on Olive himself.

Bill Cole, Olive's manager, has been experimenting with his lineup for the purpose of determining what the club needs most for the 1934 race. He has signed two new players since the Packers were here last, one of them being a Tustin schoolkid named George Padias, a clever bunter, and the other a tall southpaw from Oregon State college, First Baseman Ed Adams of Santa Ana.

Rudy Herman will be on the mound. Al Rebin back of the plate, with Adams at first base, Terry Griffith second, Padias third and "Red" Kilder at shortstop. Sands will play center field, the other outposts being assigned to Henry Thier, Fritz Gunther and Ray Shiel.

Shortstop "Memph" Hill will return to the Santa Ana lineup, allowing Tom Denney to move back to left field. No other changes are planned by Manager "Eeny" Wilcox.

Since the Olive-Santa Ana skirmish was originally scheduled for the Olive park, being moved here at Olive's request, Santa Ana technically will be the visiting team and will go to bat first.

Other league games send Huntington Beach against Westminster at Westminster, and Anaheim at Whittier. Both contests should be close, and will have an important bearing on the fading pennant race.

The standings:

NATIONAL NIGHT LEAGUE
Huntington Beach . . . 10 W. 1 Pct.
Anaheim . . . 8 W. 4 Pct.
Whittier . . . 7 W. 4 Pct.
Westminster . . . 6 W. 5 Pct.
Santa Ana . . . 5 W. 5 Pct.
Torrance . . . 3 W. 8 Pct.
Fullerton . . . 3 W. 8 Pct.

Tomorrow's Games

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 22.—(UP)—Steve Banas, East Chicago veteran of two years' competition, probably will have to shoulder the fullback burden on the Notre Dame football team this fall.

His understudy for the past two seasons, George Melnikovich, recently spent a month in the hospital with a dangerous kidney and liver infection.

One of the most likely looking fullback candidates, coming up from last year's freshman team is Don Elser, 215-pound Gary high school star, who can run the 100-yard dash in 10 seconds.

Elser scored the only touchdown in the annual freshman-varsity game this spring when he returned the opening kickoff nearly 100 yards.

Santa Ana's Open Tennis Play Begins

With today's program devoted exclusively to men's singles and men's doubles, feminine players have their innings tomorrow in the second annual Santa Ana Open Tennis tournament.

Play will begin in both women's singles and mixed doubles, Peggy Kerr of Long Beach, Mildred Ward of Santa Ana and Melva Roquet of Anaheim have been established as favorites in the singles event.

More than a score of Southern California's premier players invaded the Frances Willard courts for first round matches got under way at 8 a. m. today. Competition was to continue hourly until 4 o'clock when the last set of doubles teams take the courts.

The matches are all open to the public.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(UP)—The only thing more rapid than the birth of a sports hero is his death.

Take Henry Ellsworth Vines, of Pasadena, Cal., for example. (Everybody else is taking him these days, so we might as well.) Starting from scratch, Vines rose to the top of the tennis world in two years. It appears he is going to cut that time in half coming down. He started his return trip to Australia last fall, and he has yet to stop for a red light or a one-way street.

Twelve months ago Ellsworth had more titles than the Prince of Wales. Today he's got but one—that of National champion, and if you believe the tennis experts (a tennis expert, it might be explained, is any fellow who doesn't wear a hat) he won't have that one after the boys get through with him at Forest Hills next month. We say next month advisedly, for the gals seemed destined to stay out there until Christmas, what with the rain and Dorothy Round's religion. They've postponed the women's play so often the customers now call up in the morning to find when tomorrow's matches will be played, and it looks as if the girl who brought along the most clothes will eventually win.

But to get back to Vines comma Ellsworth. What do you suppose ails him? You can't just pass him off as a flash in the pan, a momentary glory, for during his ascension he played a game of tennis the like of which nobody ever played before. And that's not our opinion. That's what Henri Cochet said after Vines took him in straight sets in the finals of the Nationals last year.

"I played Tilden and Lacoste at their best," the little Frenchman said as he dressed, "but they never hit a ball like that boy did today."

That match with Cochet, incidentally, was the beginning of the end. From Forest Hills, Vines went to Australia on that cockeyed junket sponsored by the wise fathers of the U. S. L. T. A., and in the land of down under he was kicked by Jack Crawford, which was allright, and by one Vivian McGrath, which wasn't. Returning to this country he was licked in several tournaments by players he was expected to chase off the courts. Then came Wimbledon and his loss to Crawford, and after that the interzone Davis Cup finals with Great Britain, in which he played like a novice and was trounced by Fred Perry and "Bunny" Austin.

Last week he entered the Newport Casino tournament, in order to sharpen his weapons for the defense of his title at Forest Hills. He got as far as the semi-finals where Frank Shields took him in straight sets.

Vines' collapse this year cost him plenty besides glory. It cost him a bundle of cash. This time last year the men who wanted him to turn professional were talking serious money. In fact, they even mentioned $100,000. Right now they'd probably think twice before offering him room and board at a tourist home and the cushioned concession at his exhibitions.

BABE HERMAN BENCHMARK
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(UP)—Those fateful, hateful words—"on the bench"—today came to plague Babe Herman of the Chicago Cubs. Charlie Grimm, Cubs' manager, announced he intended to use Riggs Stephenson in the outfield as the Bruins met the New York Giants in a doubleheader. Herman has been in a batting slump.

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport

THE BOUNCE HIT CRAZE
Santa Ana officials contemplate at some early date a "laboratory" to determine if anything can be done to make night baseball a faster, more entertaining sport to watch and play.

Laboring on the theory that nothing tried is nothing gained, they propose to arrange an exhibition game here in which the baselines will be extended 10 feet to 55 feet, and the pitching distance set back 3 feet to 38 feet. The idea, of course, is to encourage hitting and fielding.

Under the present governing rules demanding 45-foot baselines, the whole league has gone "bounce-hit crazy." Some of the players are becoming so expert that batting averages are no longer taken seriously, the best swingers in the game showing percentages far below top-hitters who couldn't drive a ball out of the infield with a shotgun.

With 45-foot baselines, as at present, left-handed hitters and those who have adopted that method have a tremendous advantage over orthodox swingers. If you don't think so, scan the last National Night league batting average list. Twenty-seven regulars hitting .300 or better as of August 4. Only six of these are right-handers—Hal Forney, Louie Neva, George Watson of Torrance and Rod Ballard of Santa Ana, Charley Zabala of Anaheim and Joe Rodgers of Huntington Beach. The chances are that these six are the real leaders of the league. They have two strides further to run to reach first base.

OLIVER'S NEW SYSTEM

The doctrine of Dr. Howard Jones is going to be employed to some extent this fall at Tucson, the seat of Arizona university, where Coach "Tex" Oliver hangs his hat. This is news—because not many coaches abandon all or any part of the system made famous by the late great Knute Rockne. Oliver used the Rockne system at Santa Ana HI for the past two years. It won him 26 straight games, a Southern California championship and a job at an important university.

Yet, they say, Oliver thinks the time has come to make some changes. The Rockne system will not be scrapped. Far from it. But the best part of Jones' stuff will be borrowed. Why? Well, there is no better style of play in the world than Rockne's between the

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(UP)—Rain again caused postponement of semi-final matches in the Women's National championships today.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 22.—(INS)—Helen Jacobs doesn't think The Great Moody is slipping. Any opinion of the experts or gallery gods to the contrary notwithstanding, Helen the Second is certain Mrs. Moody will take a lot of beating when, and if, the final round of the current women's National championship is ever staged. Rain has forced so many postponements in the titular tourney that Princess Helen, along with a lot of other people, is wondering if the forty-sixth American Women's tennis champion will ever be decided. When weather permits, however, Miss Jacobs, who is defending the title she won in the Great Moody's absence last year, will clash with Dorothy Round, British ace, in the semi-final round. The winner will battle Queen Helen for the title. Who that winner will be Princess Helen refused to predict today. "I've won once from Miss Round and she has beaten me once; either one of us could win today. NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(UP)—The New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox today held the distinction of having equalled the American league's longest tie game, 18 innings, in addition to having played one of baseball's most peculiar contests.

After they battled 4 hours and 11 minutes at Chicago yesterday, umpire Harry Geisel called the game because of darkness. The score was 3 to 3. They'll play the game over in September in New York.

This contest equalled the all-time American league record for tie games held jointly by the Chicago and New York clubs of 1903 and Detroit and Washington of 1909. It equalled also the season record of 18 innings set by the Giants and St. Louis July 2. The elapsed playing time was 8 minutes longer than that of the Giants and Cards.

Both club played errorless baseball, but neither was able to obtain an extra base hit. The totals for each club were the same, 3 runs, 11 hits and no errors. Both clubs were held scoreless for 8 innings; then each tallied in the ninth and each made two runs in the 11th. Each club used two pitchers.

REDUCTION OF DOG LICENSE FEES SOUGHT

Designed to give Santa Ana an adequate dog licensing law and protect citizens against vicious dogs running at large, a proposed ordinance was presented before the city council last night and discussed by the council and several dog fanciers. No action was taken and the matter was carried over until next week.

One of the main provisions is the setting of dog licenses at $1 per year for all types of dogs, a reduction of $1 from the present rate. The poundmaster will keep 75 per cent of the dog license fee and turn over 25 per cent to the city, in addition to being paid a small salary. Any dog over six months old shall be required to have a license.

If a dog is tagged and is picked up by the pound master, the owner is to be notified and may secure his dog without cost. If a dog is picked up without a tag, three notices will be posted, one each at the postoffice, city hall and pound, containing a brief description of the dog. Unless redeemed within three days, the dog will be destroyed or sold.

In order to redeem a dog, $1 must be paid for taking the dog, $1 for redemption and 25 cents to the poundmaster for feeding the dog, all of which is kept by the poundmaster except the 25 cents claimed by the council from the license fee.

Any person, firm or corporation owning any vicious dog and permitting it to run at large, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and if convicted, can be fined not to exceed $300 or be confined in the county jail not to exceed 90 days, or both fined and jailed.

During the discussion, E. E. Frisbie of the county health department estimated that more than 100 persons were bitten by dogs last year and that 10 or 15 Pasteur treatments had been given. Dr. James Farrar, speaking for a group of dog fanciers, urged the adoption of the new ordinance.

CONDITION OF MRS. GRIGSBY IMPROVING

Improvement in the condition of Mrs. G. N. Grigsby, 1113 Spurgeon street, who was injured when she was knocked down by an excited horse while watching the Fiesta parade last month, is reported to the extent that she has been able to dispense with the services of professional nurses, although she is still confined to bed.

Mr. and Mrs. Grigsby celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary on April 25 at the home of their son, R. J. Grigsby at Park Ridge, Illinois, and were accompanied on their return to Santa Ana by Mrs. Grigsby's sister, Miss Elsa Snively, of Eureka, Illinois. The accident occurred shortly after their return.

Seventh Service Station Robbery Reported in S. A.

Service station burglars were active again last night in Santa Ana and victimized the Shell service station, Seventh and Main streets, making the seventh station to be robbed in recent weeks. Dave Gish, 611 East Second street, operator on duty at 11:40 p.m., was accosted by three men who asked if he could change a bill. While making the necessary change, he was interrupted to wait on a customer and found the men and $6 missing when he returned to the station. He gave police descriptions of the three men but no trace of them had been found up to noon today.

COMMITTEE OF GROWERS WILL MEET TONIGHT

A committee appointed at a recent meeting of the Orange County Vegetable Growers Association will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Willard school building here to discuss formulation of a county-wide code of ethics and prices under the agricultural adjustment act, it was announced today by E. E. Eastman, assistant farm advisor.

The committee, composed of President H. D. Zimmer, Anaheim; Clarence Brown, Capistrano; C. J. Coogan, Lawrence Kokx and three Japanese growers, will take action on matters discussed at the general meeting in Garden Grove.

The vegetable growers promised to employ as much labor from Orange county as possible, and the secretary, R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the Orange County farm bureau, was instructed to write the board of supervisors a letter telling of the decision to use Orange county labor wherever possible.

The special committee appointed will contact canneries in an attempt to set a stabilized price for tomatoes and other vegetables grown in this county. The group also will work on an immediate price and grade stabilization program, and, if necessary, will include a prorate section in the contemplated code.

WHITE DEFEATED IN CAL. GOLF TOURNEY

DEL MONTE, Cal., Aug. 22.—(UP)—A comparative unknown in these parts established himself as a possible contender for California amateur golf honors today when he eliminated Neil White, defending champion, in the second round of the annual state tournament.

The surprise was sprung by Fred Clark Jr., of Los Angeles, who defeated White 1 up in a closely contested match featured by excellent shots on the tricky and difficult Pebble Beach course.

MANY MEETS SCHEDULED FOR CITY OFFICIALS

If all members of the city council attend all the meetings scheduled for Santa Cruz in conjunction with the annual convention of the California League of Municipalities, in September, they will need a private secretary to record the dates.

Three organizations, in addition to the state league, sent letters of invitation to the council last night to attend meetings at Santa Cruz. First in line was the California Municipal Utilities corporation, which will meet at the Palomar hotel on September 20 and 21, according to W. J. Locke, program chairman.

The California Sewage Boards association will convene September 18 and 19 while the Temporary Interstate committee of the Southern California League of Municipalities will hold meetings at the same time as the state organization. The committee asked for a donation of $15 to help in the task of reorganizing and giving recognition to the various local leagues as outlined at a meeting in Santa Ana in July. The request was not granted and awaits later action.

The state organization will meet on September 16, 17 and 18 and virtually all the local councilmen and several appointive and elective officials are planning to attend. Statewide and local problems will be discussed.

The state convention will be one of the main topics to come up for discussion at the meeting of the Orange County League of Municipalities to be held in Laguna Beach Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock. Among other topics will be adoption or rejection of the proposed uniform handbill ordinance.

The special committee appointed will contact canneries in an attempt to set a stabilized price for tomatoes and other vegetables grown in this county. The group also will work on an immediate price and grade stabilization program, and, if necessary, will include a prorate section in the contemplated code.

ARREST 2 AUTOISTS FOR DRUNK DRIVING

Two drunk drivers and two men charged with drunkenness were arrested last night and booked at the county jail.

Laurence Myers, 32, 616 Lacy street, had a wild drive while it lasted but finally wrecked his car by climbing a three foot bank at 1063 West Seventeenth street. He was arrested by Assistant Chief Harry Fink and Detective Sergeant C. W. Wolford and taken to the jail for drunk driving.

Arrested after a wreck at 1115 South Main street, Juan Contreras, 25, 332 Central avenue, Del Mar, was booked for drunk driving and V. Martinez, 52, Orange, was charged with drunkenness. Officers A. L. Steward and Joe Morillo arrested the men after their car was reported to have zigzagged down the road and finally crashed into a parked car. Joe Kelly, 40, Los Angeles, was arrested in Orange for drunkenness and brought to the jail by Officer Alfonso Westerman.

Helping Stamp Out Depression

Smiles at the stamp window—and look who's selling the first sheet of 100 three-cent NRA recovery stamps! It's none other than the postmaster general himself, genial Jim Farley. And the satisfaction on the face of the buyer, Gen. Hugh Johnson, NRA head, is plainly reflected in his broad grin.

PASTORS STAGE VETERANS PLAN DEBATE BEFORE ORGANIZATION LARGE CROWD OF NEW BOARD

FULLERTON, Aug. 22.—A large crowd attended the third debate being held between Evangelist Ernest Beam of the Church of Christ and Elder J. Walter Rich of the Seventh Day Adventist church last night at the old auditorium of the Fullerton Union High school, where the two men debated on "The Seal of God and the Mark of the Beast."

Evangelist Beam, affirmative speaker, held that the seal of God, according to sacred writ, was the Spirit of God, that "The Spirit itself bears witness with our spirit that we are the children of God." Elder Rich held that the seal of God is not the spirit itself, but the law, the impression made by the spirit, and that the "law" given by the voice of God, given by the finger of God, is "the law" of God.

Next debate will be August 28, with the topic being, "The Law as Found in the New Testament."

Seek Uniforms For Girls At Lathrop

With the opening of the city schools only three weeks in the future, faculty members of Julia Lathrop Junior High school find themselves confronted by the annual problem of securing the required school uniform of middie blouses and serge skirts, for the new girls entering school this fall.

Mrs. Iva M. Webber, dean of girls and vice-principal, today asked that mothers of students who have completed the junior high school course and have uniforms that are no longer in use, come to their assistance by presenting the garments to these in need. She suggested that anyone with such garments would be conferring a distinct favor by telephoning her at 2044-J.

Mass Planned To Honor Padre

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Aug. 22.—Month's mind requiem mass for the repose of the soul of late pastor of the old Mission San Juan, Capistrano, will be celebrated at the mission Wednesday at 10 a. m. Father O'Sullivan passed away last month.

Deer Bagged By Fullerton Man

FULLERTON, Aug. 22.—John Clark, proprietor of a sporting goods store in Fullerton, yesterday bagged a deer while hunting northeast of San Bernardino. Accompanying him were J. C. Gregory, Fullerton police sergeant; A. J. Edwards, Placentia, and Gus Barnes, chief of Placentia police.

Police News

W. H. Cleveland, 320 West Third street, reported to police today that some time during the past several days, someone removed a valuable watch chain from his home. It was made from Alaskan gold nuggets and had a charm in the form of a goldminer's washing pan and pick.

Arelano Verduco, 20, and Jose Verduco, 26, La Habra, were booked at the jail for disturbing the peace in Brea last night.

Andy Parra, 23, 326 Baker street, Placentia, was arrested for violating the immigration laws and booked at the county jail last night.

Grover Vander Zee, 39, Los Angeles clerk, was brought to the county jail last night on charges of counterfeiting by United States Deputy Marshal Morris Tovil.

NRA LEADERS PREPARED FOR CAMPAIGN HERE

Organizing in preparation for the drive which will be launched next Monday morning in the canvass of every residential and business place in the city, a meeting of leaders of the NRA committee in charge of the Santa Ana was held yesterday afternoon in Ketter's cafe, with Jules Markel, colonel in charge of the NRA sales army, in charge of the meeting.

Captain Earl Hawks was given precincts 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 37, 38, 39, 40 and 41; Captain W. B. Martin, precincts 71, 12, 13, 14, 70, 89, 68, 15, 1, 63 and 64; Captain Neal Meister, precincts 28, 27, 30, 29, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35 and 36; Captain Allison Horn, precincts 26, 24, 20, 19, 18, 16, 23, 21, 22 and 17; Captain Cliff Burrows, precincts 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 25, 60, 48, 46 and 45; Captain Plummer Bruns, precincts 53, 52, 50, 51, 49, 47, 44, 43, 54 and 42; Captain Frank Koss, precincts 67, 66, 65, 61, 62, 59, 56 and 55.

Jules Markel announced today that the new future local motion picture theaters will show material calculated to make the final week's drive a distinct success.

Ten women will be appointed to work under Mrs. Alice Peterson, lieutenant commander, in a woman's division.

At the same time, George A. Baymer, charge of NRA activities here, announced that blanks have been prepared for the federal canvass of the city under the president's emergency re-employment agreement to determine how many employees have been added since July 1 and what increase there has been in the total payroll of merchants and manufacturers in the city.

Music Scheduled For 20-30 Meeting

A mixed quartet, in charge of Loren Graves, will present a program of vocal selections for members and guests of the Santa Ana Twenty-Third club at the regular weekly meeting tonight at 8:30 o'clock in Ketter's cafe, it was announced today by Paul Dale, secretary. Ray Fisher is in charge of the program.

Preview Today On Broadway Screen

A major studio preview will be shown at the Broadway theater tonight at 8:40 o'clock. It was announced today by Manager Les Mountain. In addition to the preview, Richard Dix will be seen in "No Marriage Lies."

Held For Trial On Gun Charge

Held to answer in superior court on a charge of possession of firearms by a foreigner and being intoxicated, the trial of Richard Farrell, charged with possession of liquor, was changed from this morning at 10 a. m. to the same time on Thursday.

Automotive Men To Meet Tonight

Mechanics, blacksmiths, and radiator craftsmen allied with the Automotive Trades Association of Orange county will hold meetings tonight. The machinists will meet at the Santa Ana Iron Works, 924 East First street, the blacksmiths at the Wheeler Manufacturing company in Orange and the radiator men at the Orange County Ignition Works, Fifth and Spurgeon streets.

Court Notes

Roy LeBard and Duncan MacRae, Laguna Beach, both charged with drunkenness, were released from the county jail yesterday after paying fines of $50 to Judge Chris P. Pann.

Murray McQueen, charged with burglary of the dental office of Dr. A. B. Smith, 106 1-2 East Fourth street, was given his preliminary hearing this morning in justice court and bound over to the superior court. He is being held under $2000 bail following the alleged burglary on August 14.

Local Man Applies For Police Radio Technician Post

Evan John Lewis, now employed as a radio technician for KREG applied for a position as radio technician in a letter addressed to the board of supervisors read at the morning session. Lewis is seeking a position as technician of the contemplated county police broadcast station which the board of supervisors is considering. Lewis is submitted his qualifications as a licensed operator and also offered to discuss a plan for building the station needed for radio police cars.

WELL KNOWN AIR PILOTS HERE ON DEER HUNT TRIP

Eddie and Johnnie Martin, well known Santa Ana aviators, returned here yesterday on a short vacation trip to hunt deer in the Inyo and Owens valleys.

Both are with the United Airways, Johnnie having been connected with the line for the past five years. Eddie has been a pilot with that company for a year and a half. Johnnie has flown over 600,000 miles in the run from Los Angeles to San Francisco, he said.

A new air schedule, which will place mail from Los Angeles in New York City in 16 hours is now being planned, he declared and will be put into effect in a short time. The schedule now delivers mail in 26 hours. The new schedule will mean flying at 200 miles per hour.

Triplet Returns From Convention

Representing the association of southern Orange county, Fred Triplet of Santa Ana attended the state convention of shop owners, cleaners and dyers, in Los Angeles Saturday and Sunday. Mrs. Triplet joined her husband on the second day at the Hayward hotel, where a dinner was given Sunday evening for visiting delegates and guests.

CITY COUNCIL OF PLACENTIA SETS $1 RATE

PLACENTIA, Aug. 22.—Placentia city councilmen gave first reading to an ordinance setting the tax rate of the city at $1 on the $100 valuation, Monday night. The final reading of the ordinance will be September 6, following adjournment of the regular meeting the first of September which will fall on Labor day, September 4.

Other business discussed by the councilmen indicated no further action has been taken toward building of a new city hall, since no further information has been received by the government announcing what steps to take.

Councilmen voted to delay joining the League of Municipalities, with the rate at entry set at $60, and will attend the meeting at Laguna Beach Thursday night, of the Orange county group, where it is thought protests will be entered against the high entry fee. The state convention is slated for Santa Cruz this month.

The supervisors are to be petitioned asking for a reduction in the cost of operation of the lighting district, which takes in Placentia city, as well as a great deal of surrounding territory. A recommendation of a committee that met last week suggesting that the city and country be divided into two districts was not accepted by the councilmen.

Council Orders Equipment Of Two Radio Patrol Cars

WILL NOT WAIT ON BUILDING BROADCAST SET

While definite action on the question of a county-wide police radio system awaited discussion at the meeting of the board of supervisors today, city councilmen voted last night to equip two police cars with radios at once to operate through the Los Angeles police broadcasting station and then work with county authorities on whatever course of action is approved.

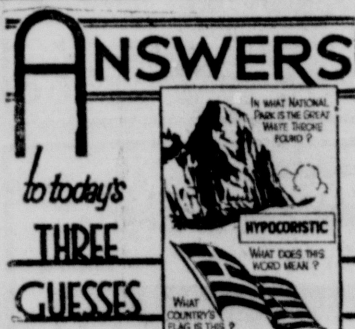

Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard and City Purchasing Agent Lloyd Banks were authorized to select the type of receiver desired for the police cars. The machines to be equipped patrol at night in the residential district and the business patrol car which operates during the early morning hours.

The receiving sets can be installed within several weeks after ordering and an arrangement will be made with the Los Angeles police department to broadcast important calls from Santa Ana. Chief Howard said he would not be justified in recommending that only one car be equipped to operate with the Los Angeles system and that there could not be a great deal of efficiency under such a plan.

After much discussion, it was decided to release two men from the police department on September 1 and two more on November 1. These four men will be transferred to other city positions under the provisions of the exhaustive budget report adopted by the council several weeks ago. This is part of the plan which creates a utility group of employees over 65 years of age and puts the policemen into their former jobs. The utility men will handle the school crossings and relieve the police department of that duty.

Correct Error in Barber's Prices

Due to a typographical error an article in yesterday's Register asserted that the price of shaves in Orange county barber shops would remain at 35 cents, the level set in the Orange county code. This should have read 25 cents, which is the price of shaves adopted in the Orange county barber code. The 35 cent price barbers say, and does not apply in Orange county.

COUNCIL NOTES

A letter was received by the city council from the Metropolitan Water District asking how the city intended to pay the tax rate but since the matter is covered in the annual budget already adopted, the city clerk was notified to write the directors and explain the local situation.

Hause, Hunt and Schwartz, valuation engineers of Los Angeles, wrote to the council regarding research work on public utilities and offered their services.

J. M. Lasater, 928 West Pine street, applied for the position of caretaker at the Bowers Memorial Museum. It was explained by Mayor Paul Witmer that one of the utility workers of the city would be detailed as caretaker in the near future.

Application was received from H. B. Carse, 1915 Maple avenue, to remodel a garage at 2002 West Fifth street into a pool hall. The matter was referred to the planning commission.

Major Anderson and James D. trixhe were granted permission to sell legalized beverages at a new cafe to be opened in the basement at 235 North Broadway.

Willis Doctolen, 2002 West Fifth street, was granted permission to open a pool hall at 2106 West Fifth street on the recommendation of the police commissioner and police chief.

E. T. O'Malia, 1015 West Fifth street, complained to the council that a light standard near his garage had not been in use for more than a year and interfered with his wash rack. He asked that it be removed and the matter was referred to the city engineer.

FOUR SENTENCED ON DRUNK CHARGES

Four men appeared in police court Saturday on intoxication charges and were sentenced by Police Judge J. G. Mitchell.

Mike Canfield was committed to the county jail for 7 to 12 days after failing to pay a $15 fine.

Petronillo Arrollo was given a 10 day suspended jail sentence while Henry Rubio and Raymond Placencia were fined $15, which they promised to pay in installments.

C. C. C. Camps to Be Open This Winter

Southern California's Civilian Conservation corps of 5000 forest workers, including the two camps in Orange county, will be maintained for another six months with the addition of 41 new winter camp sites, it was learned today.

New camps are to be established in the Fort McArthur district, including Southern California and part of Nevada, and it is expected that the forest army will be increased to about 15,000 men during the winter.

WESTMINSTER, Aug. 22.—An invitation to all women of the Westminster Presbyterian church to meet at her home in Long Beach Wednesday for a pot luck luncheon and social has been issued by the wife of the local pastor, Mrs. John Klene.

COUNCIL GETS REAL ESTATE TRADE OFFER

Advised by officials of the United Rehabilitation corporation that Santa Ana should use haste if any funds are to be secured from that organization for building a new city hall, the city council failed to take any action last night except to refer the matter to the city attorney.

Another offer of a city hall site was received by the council last night in a communication from John Knox, former mayor and his partner, A. H. Stout, hardware dealers at 420 East Fourth street. They submitted the proposal of trading their building for the Third and Main street location formerly occupied by the city hall. Any adjustment in value could be determined by an independent appraiser, the letter stated.

The building on Fourth street extends from Third to Fourth street, is 250 feet long, 53 feet wide on Fourth street, 67 feet wide on Third street and two stories high.

At a meeting several weeks ago, Mayor Paul Witmer referred the matter of the site selection to the finance committee which comprises the entire council. No progress has been made. The city hall has been temporarily housed in the Santa building at Second and Broadway since the March earthquake damaged the old city hall, resulting in orders for its demolition.

The loan from the United Rehabilitation corporation must be secured by a promissory note approved by the electorate of the city and is payable over a period of 20 years.

INSURANCE MEN TO PICNIC THURSDAY

The first monthly meeting of the Orange County Life Underwriters association since new officers were elected will be held Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock in the Anaheim Municipal park. It was announced today by George E. Fairies, secretary.

All life insurance writers were urged to attend the meeting and to bring their families with table service and basket lunches for the pot luck dinner to be served.

New officers of the association are Guy Church, Pullerton, president; George T. DeRouhae, vice president; and George E. Fairies, secretary-treasurer.

Police News

Wicker porch chairs were stolen over the week end from the homes of F. A. Stewart, 1118 South Halladay street and Albert F. Schulte, 722 South Halladay, it was reported to police.

Charles Hinton, 816 North Ross street, had his car stolen from his home Saturday, police were notified.

Atanacio Melendez, Westminster, had his car stolen from Fifth and French street Sunday and police recovered it near Sixth and French several hours later.

More than $7 worth of groceries were stolen from the parked car of R. W. Butler, 709 East Chestnut street, Saturday night near First and Sycamore streets, he reported to police.

TAXI OPERATORS GET ORDERS TO AGREE ON RATES

Ordering taxi operators to conform to the uniform zone rates to escape revocation of their licenses, the city council held a hearing yesterday on complaints that price cutting of taxi fares was being carried on in Santa Ana.

E. S. Waddle, owner of the Home Cab company, presented circulars distributed by the Broadway Cab company in which several price zones were lower than the existing scale in effect here for several years. Richard Meyer, representing the Broadway company, answered the charges by stating that he was following the price schedule given him by a member of the council, despite the fact that his new prices were not in accord with the schedule used by the two other companies.

Mayor Paul Witmer ordered Meyer, Waddle and C. F. Eddleman of the Courtesy Cab company to agree on a zone map and abide by it. Following a conference of taxi men, it was reported back to the council that an agreement had not been made. Charges were hurled that in the face of rising prices and operating costs, price cutting was ruining the taxi business and that there had been continual trouble since Meyer was granted his permit several weeks ago.

When the council questioned the three operators and found that Eddleman and Waddle were in favor of the schedule used by them for the past four years, Meyer was ordered to conform to it or have his license revoked. Copies will be made by the city engineer and given to each company and any more circulars distributed must carry the official map, it was decreed.

DISABLED VETS NOT GIVING BENEFIT

Van Leonard Brown, senior vice commander of Jack Fisher post Disabled American Veterans of the World War, today made a statement calling attention to the fact that plans for a benefit entertainment under way in Santa Ana are not for the D. A. V. organization.

"Outside promoters for the affair are representing that it is for disabled veterans," Brown said. "We do not want the public to be confused and think it is for our organization, as we make only one appeal for public support each year, and have promised that it shall be the only one. The affair in question is for a worthy organization and for a worthy purpose, but we want it distinctly understood that it is not for the Disabled Veterans chapter."

IRATE HUSBAND COUNCIL MAKES THREATENS TWO CONDITIONAL WITH REVOLVER GIFT TO FIESTA

Arrested after threatening his wife with a gun and then pushing the weapon into the stomach of a renter in the same apartment court who came to use the telephone, John Draper, 38 Anaheim, was hooked at the county jail at 9:30 o'clock last night for assault with a deadly weapon following an exciting trend of events in a Santa Ana apartment court.

Draper visited his wife, who was separated from him, at her apartment, 610 1/2 West Fourth street, and attempted to force her and their small daughter to accompany him. Howard Vaughn, living in one of the apartments, came down the hall to use the telephone and saw Mrs. Draper being menaced by a revolver in the hands of her husband.

Vaughn tried to persuade Draper to leave the house and then started to call police but the irate husband put the gun to Vaughn's stomach and refused to let him leave. Mike Maxwell, friend of Vaughn, hearing the commotion, came to the aid of Vaughn and both were able to leave the building. They disabled the Draper car by disconnecting wires and then rushed to the police station for aid.

When Captain Jess Buckles, Sergeant C. V. Adams and Special Officer Henry McKague arrived, Draper was trying to start his car and had his wife and daughter with him. Questioned by officers, he said he did not intend to harm anyone and had stolen the loaded revolver from an Anaheim friend to bluff his wife.

Urged as a justifiable expenditure for advertising the city, a request for aid in meeting the deficit incurred on the staging of the Fiesta del Oro was made by Santa Ana merchants yesterday at the city council meeting, with the result that the councilmen agreed to donate $300 if the merchants would contribute a similar amount.

Ivie Stein, representing the merchant group, stated that there was about $2300 in outstanding bills, that $1500 was covered by a bond and that merchants were donating the remainder. Since a large number of business concerns hold unpaid bills for services and material rendered during the recent three days celebration, the appropriation was asked of the city to meet the emergency.

It was pointed out that through the fiesta funds and programs, part of the expense of building the west bleachers at the bowl was provided and that much additional revenue will be provided through football and other sports. Nearly $900 was turned over to the city as its share of the fiesta receipts, for rental of the bowl on a percentage basis.

Stein said that there was every reason to believe that, profiting by lessons learned this year, the event would be staged next year at a profit. A large share of the equipment, rodeo fixtures and other articles are now owned by the fiesta association and would materially reduce the expense of producing a large show, it was said. Mention was made of the hundreds of visitors to the city, the extensive newspaper publicity, the Tournament of Light float and other advertising value to the city.

HIGHWAY OFFICER TO ADDRESS CLUB

Officer F. G. Yoder, of the California highway patrol, will be the speaker at the regular weekly meeting of Santa Ana Kiwanis club tomorrow noon in Ketter's cafe. It was announced today by Secretary Fred Crowell, Dr. Milo K. Tedstrom will introduce the speaker. James Tarpley, program chairman, has arranged for Mrs. Hazel Kinley to give a reading.

In order to give individual members of the club a greater opportunity to participate in Kiwanis, the annual forum contest will be held this year on September 27 in charge of C. W. Rowland, chairman of the education committee. The subject for the contest this year is "Kiwanis and Its Relation to National Politics."

AUTHORIZE BANKS TO BUY SWEEPER

Santa Ana's trouble in getting a new street sweeper was still up in the air today with the decision of the city council last night to reject all bids and give City Purchasing Agent Lloyd Banks full authority to buy the new vehicle.

Representatives of two leading companies have been dickering with local officials for nearly two months. When the city received a $3000 judgment after the wrecking of the regular sweeper by a large truck, negotiations were opened to buy a new one. Prices were secured and then the council decided to wait for three weeks and call in bids. Three bids were received last Monday but the selections was held over until last night.

Bachelor Supper Given For Stanley Newton, Soon to Wed

A group of young bachelors met one evening last week for cards and a Dutch supper with Oscar Patmor in his home at Culver's Corner, in honor of Stanley Newton who is soon to marry Miss Olga Murdock of Anaheim.

Since the honor guest is so soon to become a benedict, forsaking the ranks of the bachelors, the latter chose to go into mourning for the occasion, designating it as a "mourning party." They were crepe sleeve hands and used calla lilies in all decorations, but there was no mourning apparent in the merriment of the supper table where the host, assisted by Dick Bradley, presided.

Those in the group besides Oscar Patmor and Stanley Newton were Messrs. Bud Spence, Frank McCullough, Harold Trickey, Elton Sel-Trickey, Dick Bradley, Clinton Sel-Trickey, Alvin Carter, Clark Harvey, Clark, Charles Wetzel and Ralph Wetzel.

Santa Ana Physician And Family Return From Trip East

Returning at the end of the week from a summer's automobile tour through the east, Dr. and Mrs. John Luther Maroon and their small son, John Luther Jr., of 514 East Seventeenth street, brought memories of a delightful and well spent summer.

They went from Santa Ana directly to Philadelphia, Penn., where Dr. Maroon entered upon two months of special work in the Post Graduate school of University of Pennsylvania, devoting the entire course to study of diseases of the heart. At the conclusion of his post graduate work, they enjoyed various trips around Philadelphia before starting on a leisurely return trip across the continent. They included Chicago and attendance at the Century of Progress exposition in their plans, and also toured through Yellowstone National park, stopping at various other places of interest on the homeward route to Santa Ana.

Informal Supper Dance Is Scheduled for Social Club

This week is bringing a pleasant social affair for members of the Southern California Fifty-Fifty club, who are to dance at Club Palomar in Long Beach, next Saturday night, August 26, according to the latest of the succession of artistic black and silver announcements sent out by J. Riley Huber, Fifty-Fifty president.

The Club Palomar party will continue the summer entertainment plan of this group of young people, and arrangements will be similar to those that have prevailed at earlier parties including informal attire. Members have until tomorrow to notify the secretary of their intentions of attending.

Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock to music furnished by the "Rhythm Makers," and will be interrupted by the buffet supper at 11 o'clock.

For the information of members unaware of the location of Club Palomar, the announcements point out that it is at the northwest corner of Broadway and American avenue, and entry is through an arcade leading from American avenue.

Hillcrest Park Lauded As Ideal Setting for B. P. W. Picnic

Availing themselves of the opportunity to enjoy the sylvan beauties of Hillcrest park in Fullerton as a supper setting, and later the quaint Izak Walton lodge for their business meeting, Santa Ana Business and Professional Women last night hied themselves to the neighboring city for a new and delightful picnic experience.

Miss Louise Kaiser, chairman, Miss Mary Smart, Mrs. Blanche Small Brown and Mrs. Rose Walker, comprising the August social committee, had the assistance of board members in preparing a supper menu that met with enthusiastic appreciation of the clubwomen. For its meat loaf was accompanied by piping hot succotash and scalloped potatoes, flanked by a molded salad as chillingly refreshing as such a salad should be, and steaming coffee provided the proper accompaniment to a variety of rich and luscious cakes all home-made. So that the picnicers feasted royally at attractively arranged tables from which they commanded an inspiring view of mountains and coastal plain.

In Quaint Lodge They found the sturdy log clubhouse no less inviting, with its many trophies of stuffed animals, antlers, mounted deer heads and even a fine rattlesnake skin. There in the grateful warmth of a big fire, Mrs. Marie Fowler, president, called an executive session.

There were greetings to the several guests, with Mrs. O. M. Robbins of South Pasadena, the club's valued life-member, making an apt and gracious response. She and her daughter, Miss Doris Robbins, a former B. P. W. president, had driven over expressly to attend the gathering and were accorded royal welcome.

One of the most important features of business was the decision to transfer the meeting place from Ketter's gold room to the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe, 1350 North Main street, where the same dates of first and third Monday nights will prevail. The only exception to this will be September where the first meeting date, falling on Labor day, will be advanced a week or until Monday, September 11, causing the club to meet two consecutive weeks in the one month.

Special interest attached to echoes of the recent district conference in La Jolla, as reports were given of individual round tables held there. Miss Martha Whitson, state magazine chairman, told of the discussion of the subject in her group. Miss Lena Thomas, section chairman, had attended two of the round tables, that on emblems and the one on public relations, and gave highlights of each. Mrs. Northcross sketched the conference on legislative action; Miss Harriet Whidden told of that devoted to the duties of secretary and treasurer; Miss Lila Ott talked on the membership round table, and Mrs. Fowler and Mrs. Walker described that dealing with the duties of president and vice-president.

Coming Programs Pending the publication of new year books with reconstructed program to agree with that of the National Federation B. P. W. Mrs. Fowler announced the September subject, "Research," and the committee, Mrs. Laura McNaught, chairman; Mrs. Theo Winblier, Miss Elizabeth Perkins and Miss Alice Wasser. October's theme will be Membership, and Mrs. Rose Walker as chairman will have as her program committee, Mrs. Marshall Northcross, Miss Lila Ott, Pinley and Miss Lila Ott.

Members and guests who attended last night's enjoyable party included in addition to Mrs. Fowler, president, Vanche Etoile Plumb, Hannah Douglas, Winifred Iman, Nancy Elder, Blanche Brown, Mildred Reinhardt, Lena Thomas, Rose H. Walker, Lorraine French, Adelaide Cochran, Helen Gallagher, Lila B. Ott, Alma M. Karlsson, Damaris Beeman, Artie Cleveland, Mabel C. Larrick, Laura McNaught, Martha Whitson, Dora Glines, Hester Covington, Mary Smart, Nellie Sumner, Doris Robbins, Hazel Northcross, Justine Whitney, Harriett Whidden, Alice Wasser, Louise Kaiser, Eleanor Young Elliott and Mrs. O. M. Robbins.

Local Dentist to Wed Talented Violinist In Glendale

Announcement that Dr. Ronald Buell, well known young Santa Ana dentist, is soon to bring a charming bride to this city, will be received with warm interest by a host of friends in this, the city of Dr. Buell's birth. His fiancée is Miss Grace Margaret Hansen, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Hansen of Glendale, and is a talented violinist who will be a very real addition to the musical life of this community.

The marriage of the young couple will occur Thursday evening, August 24, at 8 o'clock in the Seventh Day Adventist church of Glendale, and following a Southland honeymoon, Dr. Buell and his bride will return here to make their home. Dr. Buell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hamilton, 907 Lowell street. He had his grade and high school training here and then entered North Pacific College of Dentistry in Portland, Ore., where he completed his course in 1932. He was honored in his senior year by being elected to the presidency of his class.

Miss Hansen and her mother came to Glendale just a few months ago from their former home in Portland, but the greater part of the former's musical education was received in Chicago, where she spent her childhood and early girlhood years. She studied at the American Conservatory in that city, and has appeared as soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Since her arrival in the autumn in Glendale, she has played with the Glendale Symphony orchestra.

Various charming parties complimenting the bride-elect, have featured these last few days before the wedding. Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Johnston of Glendale entertained the Southern California Musicians' guild, faculty members of Los Angeles academy, and other friends. In her honor, and she was presented with a 22-piece set of silver and some graceful wistaria glass.

Her sister, Mildred Hansen Dawson, who came to California for the wedding, played piano solos; Mrs. Irving Stetzel sang; Miss Louise Cochran gave readings, and Miss Audrey Hall played violin solos, on a musical program prior to the shower feature and refreshments.

Dr. Buell and his fiancée were jointly complimented at an enjoyable dinner given by Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Williams, uncle and aunt of the bride-elect, in their Los Angeles home. It was a family party, and assembled relatives showered the young couple with various pieces of kitchen ware.

Bridge Luncheon Group Greeted by Hostess At Country Club

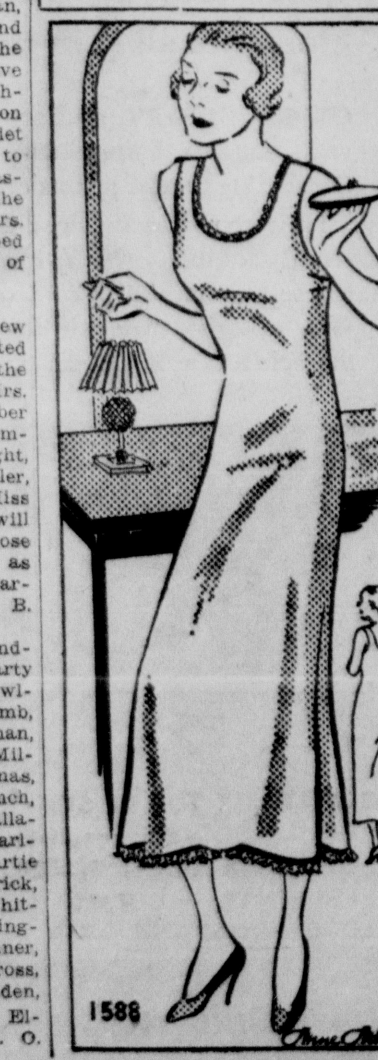

Seating her guests at tables quite lovely with flowers and other appointments in orchid and pale yellow, Mrs. Sidney Russell of 1214 North Broadway, presided last week at a luncheon for which Santa Ana Country club offered harmonious setting.

At the conclusion of the luncheon hour, the pretty orchid and yellow place cards were used to determine the seating arrangements around bridge tables for the afternoon play. Mrs. Harry Bruff took first honors in the game, with Mrs. Arthur P. Trawick her closest competitor. To them were awarded the prizes selected by the hostess.

Mrs. Russell's guests comprised a bridge luncheon club of which she is a member, and were Mrs. B. Z. McKinney, Mrs. John Backus, Mrs. William Penn, Mrs. John Luxemburger, Mrs. Roy King, Mrs. Dean Campbell, Mrs. R. W. Weston, Mrs. Arthur Trawick, Mrs. L. W. Blodgett, Mrs. Ellis Wagner and Mrs. Harry Bruff.

YOU and Your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. John Luxemburger have returned to their home, 2414 Fairmont avenue, from Balboa, where they spent a week of Mr. Luxemburger's vacation from his duties as chief of Santa Ana fire department.

Walter Melby and his son, Robert Melby, of Marion, Ohio, were guests over the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Bondley, 1665 West First street. The Ohioans came to the Pacific coast that Walter Melby might attend the national convention of United Spanish War Veterans now in session in Los Angeles.

Miss Lella Watson, 1840 West Eight street, was a member of a party motoring to Peter Pan Woodland club at Big Bear for the week-end, to enjoy a varied program of sports and social events shared by members of the club.

Miss Esther Romoff has returned to her home in Los Angeles after having spent the week-end here as the guest of Miss Miriam Samuelson, 2021 Greenleaf street.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hillman and baby son, Donald Edward Hillman Jr., were guests of Santa Ana relatives yesterday. Mr. Hillman came to this city on business, conferring with Miss Constance Cruickshank and with Chamber of Commerce executives on the Orange County Good Will tour to Mexico scheduled for October.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanner with their little family, Charles Jr. and Patricia, 2027 North Greenleaf street, returned yesterday from a Friday to Monday trip in the High Sierra country where they camped and fished at an altitude of 10,000 feet. They found the days warm and pleasant and the nights delightfully cool, while the wealth of wild roses, Indian paint brush and other flowers, were blooming as profusely as in the spring.

Miss Helen Slabaugh, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, 407 West Santa Clara avenue, left last week for an extended visit with her roommate at University of Southern California. Miss Maxine Adams of Rexburg, Ida. Miss Adams was to meet her at Salt Lake City and the two planned to motor through Yellowstone National park before continuing on to Rexburg. They will then motor back to California to plan a stop at Lake Tahoe, and reaching the Southland in time for the opening of the fall semester at the university.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl P. Hoisington Jr., of Hollywood were week end guests of Mrs. Hoisington's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Slabaugh, and all enjoyed a family party together Sunday at Laguna Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Hoisington, who recently came south from Bakerfield, are now pleasantly established at 818 North Alta Vista boulevard, Hollywood.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Bishop, their daughter and sons, Miss Velma Bishop, Noble and Gordon Bishop, Fairhaven avenue, have returned from a week's stay at Laguna Beach.

Mrs. Henry Etterly of Tustin and Mrs. Edna C. Van Deusen, 601 North Broadway, were among local passengers on the S. S. Emma Alexander when it sailed Sunday evening from Los Angeles harbor. Mrs. Etterly will remain in San Francisco for a visit, but Mrs. Van Deusen was continuing north to Eureka for a vacation visit.

Miss Katherine Beewick of B street, Tustin, is completing plans to sail Thursday on the S. S. City of Los Angeles, for San Francisco where she will enjoy a visit of indefinite length with friends.

After an extended post graduate tour of middle western and Rocky Mountain states, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Colorado and others, with attendant visits with relatives and friends, Dr. S. Theron Johnston, with Mrs. Johnston and their two young daughters, Jean and Maurine, are expected to arrive at their home, 1801 Bush street, the latter part of the week.

Mrs. Iva M. Webber, 426 South Ross street, and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Kellogg, have returned from a northern vacation trip which included a pleasant stay at Carmel. For the latter they were joined by Mr. Kellogg's sister-in-law, Mrs. John Kellogg of Berkeley, with her two youngest children, Robert and Enid. Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg will remain in Santa Ana until early September when they will return to Los Angeles and the former will resume his duties as principal of Belvedere Junior High school.

Young Couple Apply Original Ideas To Honeymoon

When Miss Hazel Stukeby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Stukeby, 917 Cypress avenue, became the bride on April 30 of Edward L. Story of this city, the young people deferred their honeymoon until the vacation season, and went to housekeeping at once in a pleasant place at 107 West Pine street.

That vacation season has now arrived, and Mr. Story is free from his duties at Commercial National bank for a delightful two weeks. So he and his bride left this morning for the long anticipated honeymoon trip, about which they had their own original ideas.

For the young people are making it a cycling tour, and their departure on bicycles with San Diego as their destination, occasioned a world of friendly interest among their neighbors and associates. They plan to spend a week in the Southernland city, and returning will stop at Laguna Beach for the duration of their vacation outing.

Announcement is Made Of Recent Arrival

Announcement of the birth of a baby daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Homer Stewart, formerly of Santa Ana but more recently of Heford, Texas, has been received with much interest by their many friends. The baby, born Thursday, August 17, in this city, where Mrs. Stewart has been spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee W. Arnold, 311 West Washington avenue, will be christened Virginia Lee Stewart.

Mrs. Stewart was formerly Miss Lillian Arnold, and was a popular member of the staff at the Rankin Dry Goods store.

Guests Enjoy Garden When Employed for Supper Parties

On two successive days at the close of the past week, friends of Miss Alma Karlsson and Miss Jeanette Lutes enjoyed the hospitality of their delightful home at 2120 North Ross street, with the garden as the center of attraction each time.

On Sunday evening Miss Karlsson and Miss Beeman complimented a honeymooning pair of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hayward of Culver City whose marriage was a recent event of much interest to friends in this vicinity. Mrs. Hayward having been the former Miss Helen Davidson of the Fullerton High school staff. They have been motoring through the northwest on their honeymoon travels, visiting points of interest in Oregon, Washington and Montana, and are now about to go to housekeeping in Culver City.

In their honor, Miss Karlsson and Miss Beeman arranged for a Sunday night supper in the garden with its background of formal flower beds separated from the grassy lawn by a low hedge; its spreading walnut trees and attractive garden furniture. There it seemed eminently suitable to use colorful Catalina pottery for serving the appetizing courses of the al fresco supper from a large stone table arranged in buffet effect.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Phillips of Placentia, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Steps of Los Angeles, and Miss Emma Myers of Long Beach, with the hostesses and complimented guests, Mr. and Mrs. Hayward, completed the congenial group.

On the previous evening (Saturday), guests invited for informal supper, sought the same shady retreat, where Miss Beeman and Miss Karlsson had awaited them, a delectable menu to be enjoyed from the same brightly-colored pottery as that used Sunday night.

Sharing their gay hospitality was a little group of out-of-town friends whose occasional visits here are always the signal for enjoyable get-togethers. They were Miss Frances Emans of Los Angeles, week-end guest of Mrs. Marshall Northcross; Miss Emma Myers of Long Beach, who also remained over the succeeding day as the guest of Miss Beeman and Miss Karlsson; the Misses Florence, Hilda and Augusta Lindblom of Beverly Hills, with Mrs. Northcross, Miss Martha Whitson and Miss Lena Thomas to complete, with the hostesses, the merry group.

As dusk brought its coolness to the garden, the party adjourned to the spacious living room of the home where tables were in readiness for bridge. High score in the contest, with its consequent reward, was made by Miss Hilda Lindblom, with Mrs. Northcross as a close second.

Announcements

Pegasus club members will hold another of their informal summer parties Thursday when they will be entertained in the summer home of Mrs. Clarence Bond on Ruby street, Balboa. A covered dish luncheon at 12:30 o'clock will be followed by the story program of the afternoon.

The Women's Missionary society of Calvary church will join in a covered dish dinner Thursday evening at 6 o'clock in Anaheim park. All members and friends of the church are invited to join in this affair, for which the class will furnish coffee. An interesting speaker has been promised for the after-dinner interval.

Homophenous club members will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Sidney Druce, 1116 French street.

North section members of the Women's Aid society of First M. E. church will join with those of the South section in a noonday picnic dinner to be held Thursday in Birch park, with their families and friends as special guests. Each member attending will be expected to provide her own family's needs in table service in addition to her contribution to the covered dish menu.

Martha Washington club members will be luncheon guests tomorrow (Wednesday) of Mrs. Stella Henderson in her home, 1405 Orange avenue. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock with the regular club meeting to follow.

Departure For East Preceded by Gay Bridge Party

As Harland Shennum, who has been spending the summer in Santa Ana as the guest of Miss Vivian Rogers in her parents' home at 118 South Ross street, plans to leave soon for his home in Kearney, Neb., where he will begin his new duties as instructor of music in Kearney College, an unusually pleasant summer party was held in his honor Saturday evening with Miss Billie Brucke as hostess in her home at 507 West First street.

The bridge games as the main diversion of the evening were won by Haleded McCormack, Miss Jeanette Lutes and Miss Vivian Rogers. When refreshments were served by the hostess, scalloped cantaloupe shells on crisp lettuce leaves furnished unique containers for the salad course.

Sharing in the delightful affair besides the honored guest, Harland Shennum, the hostess, Miss Brucke, were the Misses Vivian Rogers, Jeanette Lutes, Alberta Green, Helen Glancy; Messrs. Haleded McCormack, Jack Crawford, William Hodgins and James Snow.

Garden Sandwiches (Contributed Recipe)
For four people peel and chill 4 medium sized tomatoes, pare 2 cucumbers, quarter and remove their seeds. Take half of a green pepper and remove seeds and prepare 1 small onion or 2 green onions. Run cucumber, onion and green pepper through the food grinder, add some chopped parsley and make into a paste with mayonnaise. Arrange the sandwiches in this fashion:
Spread 2 thin slices of whole wheat bread with a little butter. On the first slice arrange slices of tomato, sprinkled with salt and pepper and a dash of paprika. Put on the second slice and on it spread the vegetable paste, garnish with a little more mayonnaise and a few ripe olives.

This reads decidedly "more-ish" to me... better double recipe if the family is to be in on it for their luncheon.

One thing the depression has done for us: four years ago we would have planned tables for bridge after a dinner party, or gone dancing. In this year, A. D., we play guessing games and the dinner guests stay until you yawn rudely in the faces. Have you ever played this one?

"WHO AM I?"
Each guest is asked in rotation, and shut the door; then the others decide on some personage with pronounced characteristics. The guest is called back into the room and introduced to begin with the person to the right and ask "who am I?" and to guess her identity from the answers. Each guest is asked in rotation three times until the identity is guessed or the effort to guess given up. This who am I game is most amusing and can be played indefinitely without being boring. Tomorrow I'll have another guessing game for you, and this one is aptly described in a youngster's lingo as a "dinner".

Spanish Salad (Contributed Recipe)
4 ripe tomatoes
2 green bell peppers
1 onion
4 slices bacon
1-2 cup vinegar
1 tsp. (level) chile powder.
Chop the tomatoes, green pepper and onion and put them in a salad bowl.
Fry the diced bacon crisp, add the vinegar and bring to a boil, then blend in the chile powder. Pour this over the chopped vegetables and toss with two forks until well dressed. Add salt and pepper to taste and serve on lettuce as a salad.

I think this salad might be served as a relish with baked fish very nicely. The idea is similar to the old way of wilting lettuce except that the use of chile powder as a seasoning is a new one. I think it might be wise to go carefully with the chile powder until you see whether you like the prescribed amount.

There are portions for four here, if the recipe is to be used for more than one. In that case each salad would have a calory value of a trifle under 200, but for the diet salad the serving, would be larger and the calory value listed at 220.

Garden Sandwiches (Contributed Recipe)
For four people peel and chill 4 medium sized tomatoes, pare 2 cucumbers, quarter and remove their seeds. Take half of a green pepper and remove seeds and prepare 1 small onion or 2 green onions. Run cucumber, onion and green pepper through the food grinder, add some chopped parsley and make into a paste with mayonnaise. Arrange the sandwiches in this fashion:
Spread 2 thin slices of whole wheat bread with a little butter. On the first slice arrange slices of tomato, sprinkled with salt and pepper and a dash of paprika. Put on the second slice and on it spread the vegetable paste, garnish with a little more mayonnaise and a few ripe olives.

This reads decidedly "more-ish" to me... better double recipe if the family is to be in on it for their luncheon.

One thing the depression has done for us: four years ago we would have planned tables for bridge after a dinner party, or gone dancing. In this year, A. D., we play guessing games and the dinner guests stay until you yawn rudely in the faces. Have you ever played this one?

"WHO AM I?"
Each guest is asked in rotation, and shut the door; then the others decide on some personage with pronounced characteristics. The guest is called back into the room and introduced to begin with the person to the right and ask "who am I?" and to guess her identity from the answers. Each guest is asked in rotation three times until the identity is guessed or the effort to guess given up. This who am I game is most amusing and can be played indefinitely without being boring. Tomorrow I'll have another guess-

ARRANGE FINAL SERVICES FOR ORANGE WOMAN

ORANGE, Aug. 22.—Funeral services are to be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the C. W. Coffey Funeral chapel for Mrs. Mattie Cooper, 84, who passed away Sunday at her home at 393 North Shaffer street. The Rev. Franklin H. Minck is to officiate and interment is to be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mrs. Cooper had been a resident of this city for the last 11 years and she is survived by one son, Fred Tankersley, of this city, and one daughter, Mrs. Arlie Taylor, of Fayetteville, Ark., and 11 grandchildren.

Mrs. Cooper had been in ill health for some months past. She was a member of the First Christian church.

Walther League Members Attend Van Nuys Service

ORANGE, Aug. 22.—A group of 58 young people of St. John's Senior Walther league drove to Van Nuys Sunday to attend the services at the Lutheran church, of which the Rev. Armand Mueller is pastor. The event was planned to honor the pastor, who was vicar of St. John's church here before he assumed his duties as pastor at Van Nuys last summer.

The Rev. Mr. Mueller returned last week from Lancaster, Ohio, where he was married July 26 to Miss Margaret Miller of that city. After the church services, the young pastor and his bride and the Orange young people shared a luncheon in North Hollywood park.

CLUB SEASON TO OPEN SEPT. 18TH

ORANGE, Aug. 22.—With the approach of September, club women of the city are turning their attention to the opening of the club year on September 18. It is understood that the year books are nearly ready for press. The books will be distributed to members at the opening meeting. Mrs. Christine Lambert heads the program committee and working with her in securing speakers and outlining programs have been Mrs. J. T. McInnes and Mrs. Fred Alden.

The club has nine sections, the first, second and third economic sections, the book review section, the first and second garden sections, the toastmasters' section, the club chorus and the travel section.

Young People In Musical Program

EL MODENA, Aug. 22.—The Young Peoples' and the Intermediate Christian Endeavor societies held a musical program and box social recently. The social was held on the lawn of the Friends parsonage. Decorations were gay colored crepe paper streamers strung above the small tables.

Miss Helen Price had charge of the decorations. Jay Stone was auctioneer. A delightful musical program, under the direction of Miss Ruby Gray and Miss Edith Culter, was enjoyed. Out-door games were supervised by Mrs. Louis Frostefer, second high by Mrs. Johnnie Harms and Mrs. James Rahn was consoled. Others present were Mrs. C. C. Hatch, Mrs. Raymond Crumm, of Santa Ana, Mrs. W. H. Palmer, Mrs. Nell Brown and the hostess, Mrs. Seba.

RUBY REBEKAH LODGE HONORS PAST LEADERS

ORANGE, Aug. 22.—Past Noble Grand night was observed at the meeting of Ruby Rebekah lodge Monday night, with the noble grand, Mrs. Elizabeth Rodieck, presiding. Following a short business session visitors from Santa Ana and from other states were introduced.

The district deputy president, Mrs. Mildred Allen, of Anaheim, announced the district meeting to be held at Huntington Beach, opening at 10 a. m.

There were 28 past noble grands of the Orange lodge present. Eight past noble grands of other lodges also were present.

The program was given by Miss Faye Stinson, of the Little Theater studio of Orange, and by Lella Hughes, vocalist.

Miss Stinson read a one-act play by J. M. Barrie and Miss Hughes sang "The Garden of Tomorrow," giving as an encore, "Is You? You Is." Mrs. Hughes closed the program, singing "A Little Pink Rose," by Carrie Jacobs Bond.

Pupils of Miss Stinson are to be presented in a three-act play at the Woman's clubhouse on September 8, it was announced.

BREA

BREA, Aug. 22.—Miss Betty Reed, of Hollywood, sister of Mrs. Charles Swan, is a guest in the Swan home. Miss Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Swan and the Misses Frances and Edna Reed made up a party that enjoyed a picnic dinner in Irvine park Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Howe have left on a motor trip of three weeks, their first objective being Missouri, where they will visit with relatives of Mr. Howe.

L. A. Sayles, who was brought to his home here from the Cottage hospital at Fullerton several days ago, will be confined to the house for several weeks. Mrs. Sayles is in charge of the business during the illness of her husband.

CARRIER PIGEON EXHAUSTED

OGDEN, Utah (UP)—Thousands of miles from home, a slate-blue carrier pigeon was picked up exhausted recently by Robert Aland from the window sill of his home here. A small band on its leg contained the inscription: "No. 5, Bourne Mfg. Co., Melrose, Mass."

A. L. SPENCER SERVICES SET FOR TOMORROW

ORANGE, Aug. 22.—Funeral services are to be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the Gillogly funeral home for Arthur Lee Spencer, 40, who passed away at his home at Whittier yesterday.

The services are to be conducted by Dr. Robert Burns McAnuly and interment is to be made in the Fairhaven cemetery.

Surviving Mr. Spencer are his widow, Mrs. Dorothy Spencer; four children, Ruth, Ralph, Raymond and Clarence; his mother, Mrs. Sarah Spencer; two brothers, Samuel Spencer and L. D. Spencer, of Whittier, and three sisters, Mrs. Lora Harrison of Whittier; Mrs. Kathryn Schwendeman of Placentia and Mrs. Beatrice Mars of Los Angeles.

Mr. Spencer had been ill since January when he underwent a serious operation. The family moved to Whittier from Orange about two months ago.

COUPLE BACK FROM 8000 MILE JAUNT

ORANGE, Aug. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Lee, of 477 North Shaffer street, have returned from an extensive motor trip during which they traveled 8000 miles. Mrs. Lee, principal of the Maple street school, attended the B. and P. W. club national convention in Chicago.

After spending some time in Milwaukee with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Lee went to Rochester, Minn., where they went through the Mayo Brothers' clinic. They visited relatives in St. Paul, Minneapolis and at Eden Valley, Mrs. Lee's birthplace.

While in South Dakota, the Lees saw the artist, Borglum, working on the models for the Bushmore memorial which is being made in the Black Hills and where the busts of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Teddy Roosevelt are being carved in solid rock of a mountain side.

Other places visited were the South Dakota Bad Lands, Big Horn mountains, Spokane, Portland and the Coulee dam in Oregon. In Glacier National park, the Orange residents spent some time in the summer home of Mrs. Lee's cousin on the shores of Lake MacDonald. They fished for salmon at Kettle Falls on the Columbia river and spent some time in the Canadian Rockies at Lake Christine.

ORANGE PERSONALS

ORANGE, Aug. 22.—The Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Bode and family are expected to begin their homeward trip from the north next week. The Rev. Mr. Bode is pastor of St. John's Lutheran church and with his family he has been enjoying a vacation in Washington and Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Paule and daughter, Jean, have left for a two weeks' visit to Iowa and the fair at Chicago.

The Woman's Missionary society met at the parsonage on Walker street Friday. Luncheon was served at noon. The afternoon was devoted to sewing. Those present were Mesdames Bodkin, Woodmansee, Isham, Norland, Santoff, Ferguson and Anderson.

The Lightbearers Sunday school class of Cypress church held a swimming party at the Montebello plunge recently. Those present were Roberta and Marg Stiles, Viola Davis, Ruth Grindley, Jerry Marshall, Naomi Norland, Opal Ferguson, Vida Isham, Barbara Lowe, Knoxville Stearns, Daniel Norland, Joe Ferguson, Donald Davis, Frances and William Urschel.

Miss Eleanor Miller, daughter of Worth C. Miller, of Lincoln road, is convalescing at the Steen hospital in Fullerton. For a few days she was under the care of Mrs. J. Woods and Mrs. Vida Snell, trained nurses of Cypress.

Funeral ceremonies for William Williams, a pioneer of the Cypress district, were held August 15. A lover of horses, he made stock raising a hobby as well as a business. He left four sons, Milam, Jim, Dave and Henry, and two daughters, Mrs. Myrtle Bedford, of Cypress, and Mrs. Oida Dilla, of Norwalk.

Andrew Moore is taking Manager Fry's place at the Cypress bank while he is on vacation.

Mrs. O. P. Bunyard, Mrs. R. Fuquay and Clarice Edinton spent Thursday in Alhambra at the Stockton home.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, Aug. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Ira E. Wilded and two daughters, Ethel Mae and June, are spending their vacation at the H. A. Randall cottage at Newport Beach.

Mrs. U. R. Phillips and two children, Rosalie and Bobby, and her mother, Mrs. Roxie Balcom, visited in the W. C. Stark home in Pico recently. Mr. and Mrs. Stark are former La Habra residents and have property holdings here. Other guests of the day at the Stark home were Frank Stark, of Kansas, and Billy Claville, of Los Angeles. Mr. Stark is in Grass Valley where he is engaged in gold mining operations.

Mrs. Carrie Glazier, for many years a teacher in the La Habra schools and a long time resident of La Habra, is spending the summer at her cottage in Catalina.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mertz and children, of Lenore, former La Habra residents, spent two days visiting friends in La Habra and renewing old acquaintances.

Mrs. Anna Launer, accompanied by Miss Adel Launer, of Los Angeles; Ruthmarie and Eunice Launer, of La Habra; Jean Launer, of Fullerton, and Donald Willard of Buena Park, are at the N. M. Launer cabin at Lake Arrowhead.

Paul Reimann, who was severely burned about the legs and hand, is recovering at the home of his parents on Hillendale place, La Habra. Mr. Reimann was assisting in repairing the roof of the Nazarene church building on East Central avenue when a pot of hot tar was upset, spilling the liquid over his legs. He is being attended by Dr. D. C. Munford, of La Habra.

No More Bed Bugs!

These insect pests may get into any house—but they don't stay long where there is a vigilant housekeeper. Not when it is easy to get rid of them with Bu-hach.

Simply sprinkle Bu-hach on the bed and bed clothing, and dust it into cracks and crevices around the room. Bu-hach brings a swift, sure end to any insect pest, but it is guaranteed safe for human beings and animals. Money back if it fails to end the pests. Comes in handy sifter cans at 25c and 50c at all good grocery and drug stores.

THE TINYMITES

"I wonder where the diver went. Just think of all the time we spent in saving him from that old squid," said Scouty, with a smile. "I think a new friend we'd have found, if for a while he'd stayed around. I guess he knows we're friendly. He may come back after while."

The diver, in the meantime, was a very puzzled man because he wished to meet the Tynmites and thank them for their aid.

"I'd like to go back in the sea and shake their little hands," said he. "But that old squid is still around and, frankly, I'm afraid."

He stood upon the shore a while and then his face broke in a smile. "I'll plunge my old steam shovel down to where they are," he cried.

"Then, if those lads are brave and bold, perhaps they'll gladly catch a hold. It really should be fun for them to have a shovel ride."

The next thing that the Tynmites knew, wee Scouty cried, "Look, all of you! There comes a great big shovel and it's headed right this way."

The Tynmites scampered here and there, "cept Duncy. He got such a scare he couldn't move. "Oh, I am doomed," the others heard him say.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

The problem nowadays is to keep from getting "round" on "three squares."

Soon Coppy shouted, "There he goes! The shovel's caught him by the clothes. Come on, let's try to grab him. Maybe we can jerk him free."

Before they had a chance to try, their pal was lifted 'way up high. "Oh, my," said Doty. "I'll bet he's as scared as he can be."

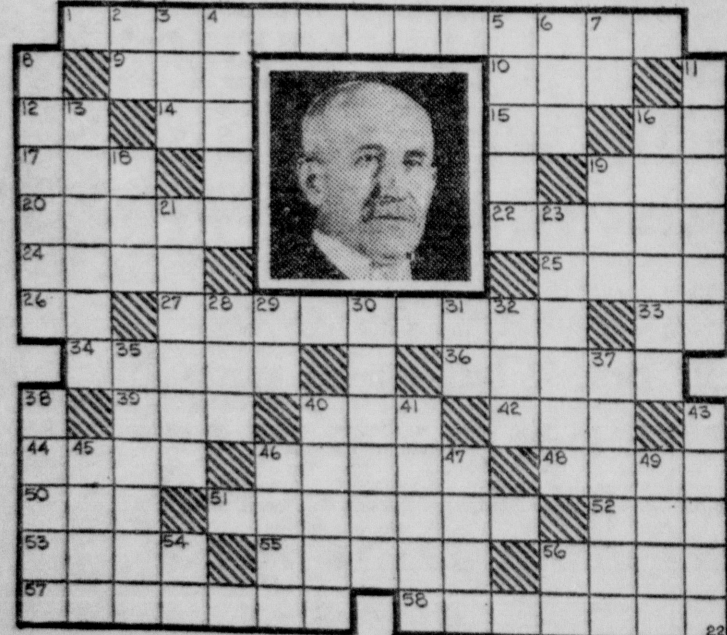

As Duncy reached the water top he cried, "Oh, gee, I wish I'd drop." Then up into the air he went. To him 'twas far from fun. Then came a very big surprise. Below him, right before his eyes, there stood a funny little man who shouted, "HEL there, son!" (Copyright, 1933, NEA Service, Inc.)

(Duncy makes friends with the old diver in the next story.)

News Of Orange County Communities

Southern County NRA Administrators Appointed

CAMPAIGN WILL BEGIN AT ONCE IN COAST AREA

DOHENY PARK, Aug. 22.—Administrators for communities in the southern end of the county were appointed officially at a luncheon held yesterday noon at the Red Lion cafe, when a group of prominent citizens, called together by George Raymer of Santa Ana, one of the four general administrators for the district, were the guests of H. E. Leyden, of Doheny Palisades. The appointments follow:

San Clemente—Mayor Thomas F. Murphy and City Engineer W. A. Ayers; Doheny Park, H. E. Leyden and Postmaster B. W. Greenidge; Dana Point, Postmaster John M. Lyle and Attorney J. W. Groom; San Juan Capistrano, Ferris Kelly and Arlie Leck; administrator-at-large, Justice of the Peace John Landell.

Judge Landell was elected chairman of the area group, which will meet at his office in San Juan Capistrano Wednesday, August 30, at 7:30 p. m. for comparison of reports and to make a general report that will be forwarded to Washington.

In opening the meeting which followed the luncheon, Raymer declared that with the authority of Gen. Hugh Johnson in Washington, he would pass on authority to the administrators chosen and that they would not only have enforcement of the National Recovery act. He asked that immediate attention be given to a drive to bring all consumers into the NRA membership. Committees will be named in each community to make a thorough canvass of the houses, hotels and other places of abode and have the consumers sign pledge cards, by which they promise to trade only with NRA members, and to give all who sign stickers for their windows bearing the blue eagle and the word "Consumer".

Raymer made it plain that all merchants who have signed the agreement with President Roosevelt, whether or not they employ three or more persons, are entitled to use the NRA emblem if they intend to live up to the spirit of the law. He instructed the administrators to see that all such shopkeepers be provided with the emblem.

As for those who employ three or more persons and do not conform with the codes the administrators were instructed to use persuasion at first and then their power, backed by the government, to enforce the law.

Raymer promised that publicity will be given to individual business men who try to evade the law. He warned particularly that the shortening of hours and cutting pay in proportion is one of the worst offenses against the act.

The home owner who refuses to put up an emblem is not subject to any law. President Roosevelt has asked his co-operation. It is a question of patriotism, pride and honor to make the pledge, Raymer said in answer to a question put by H. E. Leyden.

Mayor Murphy asked if the area administrators had the power to take down the blue eagle from an establishment found to be evading the code.

"Most emphatically," said Raymer. "And if you need any help let me know. The report will go straight to Washington and what you can do, General Johnson will."

Mayor Murphy and City Engineer Ayers of San Clemente said

Judge Landell To Frown On NRA Violator

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Aug. 22.—Judge John Landell, who yesterday was named chairman of a group of NRA administrators for the southern end of the county, declared here today that he will refuse to issue legal papers to anyone who does not live up to the NRA code in the township.

Judge Landell said: "There is an old saying, 'You must come into court with clean hands.' That is part of the unwritten law. I do not think a violator of the NRA code would have very clean hands. Of course, it is possible for such a person to go into the superior court and get a writ of mandamus, compelling me to issue the papers, but if the superior court judges are like the district court of appeals judge in Washington, who ruled in a recent oil case, I do not think the writ would be issued. If every other magistrate will refuse to issue legal papers to such offenders I think it will help to bring them into line."

Pasadena Class At Island Camp

BALBOA ISLAND, Aug. 22.—Thirty-five girls, representing the senior group of young women of the Presbyterian church school of Pasadena are in attendance at Mar Casa, the church summer camp. Miss Blanche Wachob is class counselor.

Miss Lois Bruce, of Pomona, is serving as musical director. Miss Madeline Curry is in charge of handicraft. Miss Helen Cobb is instructing in swimming. Mrs. Joe Marshall has charge of dramatics and Mrs. Way is leader in the round table discussions.

Next Saturday and Sunday members of the parents' class and their children, numbering in all about 100 persons, will occupy the camp. The class teacher, Mrs. McClelland, will have charge of the program.

Bids Requested on P. O. Building

GARDEN GROVE, Aug. 22.—As the present lease of the Garden Grove post office, located in the Price building, expires January 5, 1934, proposals are being accepted for a new lease, including fixtures, with or without a safe. Sealed bids will be received up to and including September 6, 1933. All bids should be submitted to Post Office Inspector W. H. Switzer in the Federal building in Los Angeles.

Miss Mabel Head, local post master, will supply the necessary blank forms.

After the meeting that they intend to name a committee of 15 to carry out the work in that city.

It developed at the meeting that Doheny Palisades has kept 37 men at work throughout the period of the depression when the employment was not necessary. Raymer said that a special report on that situation will go to Washington.

Several additional employees have been added since the passage of the law and for whom the organization will be entitled to use gold star on the emblem.

GARDEN GROVE JUBILEE HELD SEPTEMBER 9

GARDEN GROVE, Aug. 22.—In celebration of the completion of a $50,000 business building and street widening project, Garden Grove will hold a rebuilding jubilee September 9 under the direction of civic and service club leaders of the community.

The Spanish type of architecture has been followed in the building program, all of the new store fronts conforming to a definite color scheme of white, with red tile roofs, which coupled with the distinctive Spanish oxide red sidewalks, presents a particularly pleasing effect. All of the store buildings have been moved back and the streets have been widened 12 feet.

Committees in charge of the jubilee are as follows: E. J. Tobias, general chairman; Fred Dukes, policing and traffic; Henry D. Adams, finance committee; W. B. Gantz, sports and awards; A. D. Brownell, music; E. W. Curry, refreshments; Ed. Isenberg, decorations; Ralph Chaffee, speakers and entertainments; Vernon King, publicity; L. W. Schauer, secretary-treasurer.

Plans are being made for bicycle races for boys from 6 to 12 years of age; women's races and a fat man's race, speakers and music followed by a dance in the evening hall commencing at 9 p. m. under the direction of Herman Thorpe.

A loud speaker system will be installed for the musical and speaking program. Within a few days the streets will be decorated for the occasion.

Reports of the different chairmen will be given at a meeting to be held in the Chamber of Commerce hall Thursday afternoon.

H. B. Houses Filled Due To Oil Boom

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 22.—Huntington Beach is the city without a vacant house, a survey today revealed. Every conceivable sort of shelter in the city is occupied, from the backyard cardboard shack to the fine homes of the oil millionaires. The rush for dwelling houses came with the new town lot oil boom, with 1500 to 2000 men given work by the drilling activities.

Rents have not gone up except in the higher class apartment houses. Many of the oil workers are taking their pay, partly in money and partly in an interest in the production or in the well.

Mrs. Grace Brose, deputy city treasurer, had a large three-bedroom house, vacated yesterday morning. She made the rounds of the real estate offices and listed her house. Within 30 minutes it was rented for $30 a month and within another 30 minutes three other real estate offices had the tenant and the rent for Mrs. Brose.

Mrs. Daubendie is building a new home on the east side at the corner of Geneva and California streets. It is a modern five-room cottage and Mrs. Daubendie is being besieged with applications for renting the property. The east side is getting all the new homes. Only two houses have been erected in the city in two years in sections other than the east side.

RESTAURANT MEN CONVEENE TONIGHT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 22.—There will be a meeting of the Orange County Restaurant association at the Golden Bear cafe tonight at 8 o'clock. The chief subject for the discussion will be the national recovery act and how the cafe men can best aid the government program.

Friends Conduct Quarterly Session

GARDEN GROVE, Aug. 22.—The Whittier quarterly meeting of the Friends church was held at the Alamos Friends church over the week end. Speakers included Miss Eloise Hafford, of the Ruth Home in El Monte, and Frank Dell, general superintendent of the California yearly meeting.

The Rev. Ora Carroll, professor at Central City college, Neb., spoke at the third annual Christian jubilee Sunday evening. His topic was "Some of the Failures of Witnessing."

The song services were led by Mrs. Anna Campbell, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Marie Hare. A violin solo, "Eloidy," by Massenet, was given by Mrs. Frank Everett, accompanied at the piano by Miss Dorothy Barnes.

Next Sunday evening Mrs. Margaret Miller will be in charge of the inspirational hour on the subject, "Witnessing Through Service."

Esther Circle Outlines Plans

LA HABRA, Aug. 22.—Girls of the Queen Esther circle of the Methodist church held their first meeting of the new year in the garden of the Montgomery home on West Third street recently. A pot luck supper was served in the summer house. Dorothy Nedra and Mildred Montgomery were the hostesses for the evening.

Miss Winifred Sutton, president, outlined plans for the coming year's work, announcing that the theme would be "Roads." Dorothy Montgomery gave a review of the story, "Queen of the Tenement Courts," written by Mrs. Daniel Dundas, wife of the former pastor of the La Habra Methodist church.

Gracia Stearnman was in charge of the hour of games at the close of the meeting. Those attending were Ruth Henderson, Winnie Sutton, Helen Cook, Catherine Simmons, Fern Jones, Opal Huffman, Gracia Stearnman, Eileen Sutherland, Harriett Simmons, Evelyn McFadden and Marjorie Stevens.

Happy Workers Arrange Program

WESTMINSTER, Aug. 22.—The Happy Workers' society has completed plans for Wednesday's homecoming day program, which will follow the regular noon luncheon. The meeting, which is expected to bring out many former members of the Happy Workers who do not now reside here, will be held at the church hall. Around 80 invitations went out to former members inviting them to the homecoming. Mrs. Anna Campbell is assisting officers in arranging the program.

Mission City Fruit Plant To Open Soon

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Aug. 22.—An industry that will keep 100 persons employed for eight months in the year will be ready to start operations as soon as the installation of machinery is completed in the plant of the American Fruit Growers' association here. The concern handles the "Blue Goose" brand of fruits and vegetables. An old grain warehouse near the depot has been renovated and that work, with the machinery, will make a total outlay of $35,000.

LA HABRA W. R. C. SOCIAL THURSDAY

LA HABRA, Aug. 22.—An ice cream social has been planned by the La Habra W. R. C. for Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Maude Adcock on North Lois street. The affair will start at 6:30 o'clock and continue throughout the evening. Entertainment is being planned and the public is invited to attend.

The committee to assist Mrs. Adcock consists of Mrs. Minnie Williams, Mrs. C. E. Trent and Mrs. Sarah Elder.

Mrs. Emma Swaney, a member of the local corps, gave an interesting talk about her trip to Kansas this summer, at the recent meeting of the corps. Mrs. Milton Keeler and Mrs. Eva McFadden served refreshments.

OLD HOME RAZED

WESTMINSTER, Aug. 22.—One of Westminster's oldest landmarks, the original Dr. Josiah McCoy residence, which dates back to colonial days, is being razed. The present owner is J. Kruger, of Los Angeles, who resided here some years ago. The house was damaged in the March earthquake.

500 TO ENROLL WHEN GRAMMAR SCHOOL OPENS

TUSTIN, Aug. 22.—An enrollment of approximately 500 is expected Monday morning, September 11, when the local elementary school opens its door for the 1933-34 term of school, according to announcement today by Superintendent Charles A. Wiese. The hour of opening will be 8:30 a. m.

"All children who are going to enroll are especially requested to come Monday morning, because every day's enrollment counts," Wiese said. "Not to come, retards organization of the year's work." Buses will be routed according to last year's schedule.

Since plans for the grammar school building have not been opened as yet, school will be conducted temporarily under about the same arrangements that were followed for the closing weeks after the earthquake. Arrangements for taking care of the children until the grammar school is repaired, have been made by use of a room in the high school and rooms in the Presbyterian church. Two rooms east of the Charles Arts store have been rented and will be used for the children's class rooms.

One new member will be among the faculty to greet the students. Cloyd Hall, of Santa Monica, will be in charge of the sixth grade and will also teach arithmetic and physical education. He takes the place of Charles Webber, who cancelled his contract in order to accept a position in the Santa Ana schools.

Other teachers for the ensuing year are the same as last year and are as follows: Charles A. Wiese, superintendent; Miss Mildred Morrow, kindergarten; Miss H. Ruth Taylor, kindergarten; Mrs. Viola C. Nowell, first grade; Mrs. Myrtle Morse, first grade; Mrs. Effie Matthews, second grade and music; Mrs. Alma Stevenson, second grade; Miss Elma Dunlap, third grade; Mrs. Myrtle Shallenberger, third grade; Mrs. Emily Lindsay, fourth grade; Miss

NRA Leaders Named At H. B. Tonight

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 22.—Organization of the NRA program in this city will be perfected at a meeting at the chamber of commerce headquarters tonight. S. R. Bowen, head of the men's work, and Mrs. Betty McDonald, head of the women's department will announce their selection of majors who will in turn announce their captains.

Amanda Bartlein, fourth and fifth grades; Miss Kathleen Helm, fifth grade;

Mrs. R. Eleanor Palmer, sixth grade, language and composition; Miss Lucy S. Royce, seventh grade, art and penmanship; Miss Mary Durbin, seventh grade and geography; Miss Wilbur O. Cole, eighth grade and literature; Miss Violet Feldner, eighth grade, history and civics; Miss Irene Catland, home science and art; George Gaylord, manual training and physical education; W. G. Axworthy, orchestra; Miss Edith Johnson, school secretary.

Mrs. Eva C. Halford has resigned as janitor in the grammar school building because of ill health. It is expected that the school board will decide upon some one to fill the vacancy at the regular meeting Wednesday night.

William McMichael is janitor in the grammar school building and bus driver; Ira E. Price, janitor of primary building and bus driver; Luther E. Miller, gardener and bus driver.

CAR FORCED OFF ROAD

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Aug. 22.—Constable C. J. Errecarte reported to Judge John Landell yesterday that a bit and run driver had forced another car off the road about a mile south of town. Before he reached the scene, the constable said, the other car also had driven away.

W. H. Irish, location man for the state highway commission in the San Clemente district, reported to Judge Landell yesterday that he had hit a car coming out of a side street in Dana Point Saturday night. Irish said no one was injured.

425 EXPECTED WHEN TUSTIN SCHOOL OPENS

TUSTIN, Aug. 22.—Around 425 students are expected to register at the Tustin Union High school September 8 for the coming school year. Students may register between the hours of 8 to 4 p. m. School starts Monday morning, September 11.

The list of teachers for the coming year follows: John W. Means, principal; Miss Emma B. Field, vice principal, English; James H. Blee, general science, Spanish; Miss Mary Rose Borum, English, drama; Charles C. Brisco, mechanical arts; Ernest R. Byrne, commercial; Paul W. Colburn, mechanical arts; Ralph W. Cole, athletics; Miss Elsie K. Daley, Spanish; Miss Alice P. Maxson, history, physical education; Miss Elsie C. Hull, biology, English; Miss Mary Greenleaf, art; Vincent L. Humeston, history, athletics; Robert C. Korff, wood shop, English; George J. Kyle, science; Miss Florence Lindholm, home economics; Miss Emma C. Danneman, home economics; Miss Clara Macomber, English; Miss Mary McVey, music; Miss Grace Shults, science, mathematics; Miss Madge Stephenson, social problems, music; Miss Stella Yocum, mathematics, athletics; Mrs. Esther F. Byrne, study hall, Latin; Clarence Bowman, office; Miss Frances Parks, office.

OFFICERS RESIGN

LA HABRA, Aug. 22.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the La Habra Woman's Improvement club, the resignation of Mrs. J. I. Williams, as president of the club, and Mrs. Rolla W. Walling, vice president, were received and accepted. Both find that business affairs will make it impossible for them to accept the offices.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Flora Rhodes. Mrs. Ella Mae Chewing will be chairman of the September meeting and her committee will be announced later.

Murder at Bridge

by ANNE AUSTIN
author of
"THE BLACK PIGEON"
"THE AVENGING PARROT"
"MURDER BACKSTAIRS"

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Juanita Selim is murdered as she sits at her dressing table while she is dressing for the evening. Questioning the guests Bonnie Dundee learns that Ralph Hammond, in love with Nita, is the murderer.

Dundee, after trying to get a connected story of the afternoon, finally asks the guests to take the police to the scene of the crime. The "death hand" until the discovery of the body.

Penny Crain, the district attorney's secretary; Karen Marshall, who discovered the body, and Carolyn Drake take their places at the bridge table to play the hand, Lois Dundee, Nita's only woman friend, stands beside them.

Flora Miles, who left the room before the dealing of the hand, goes out to the front porch. Janet Raymer goes out on the front porch. Penny Crain, who was inexplicably absent from luncheon, goes to greet the absentees, meeting her fiancé, Clive Hammond. Dundee wonders why Hammond did not come in to greet his hostess. They begin to play the bridge hand, with Karen as dealer, and Penny acting as Nita, Karen's partner. Karen gets the deal for six spades, doubled and redoubled.

CHAPTER VIII
"Oh, this is too horrible!" Karen Marshall moaned, as Penny Crain slipped into Nita Selim's chair and prepared to lay down her hand.

And it was horrible—even if vitally necessary—for these three to have to go through the farce of playing a bridge hand while one of the original players was now lying on a marble cot at the morgue.

But he said nothing, for Tracey Miles was already hovering in the doorway, ready for his cue to enter. Penny, or rather "Nita," as she seemed miraculously to become, was saying:

"How's this, Karen darling?" as she laid down the ace and deuce of spades—Karen's trumps. "I hope you remember you are vulnerable, as well as we are."

Tracey Miles remarked in a sorry imitation of her original coquetry: "dear—the offensive optimism of a bad bridge player who thinks she is really good—as she opened the playing by leading the king of clubs."

"And how's this, partner? A singleton in clubs!" Nita's imitator demanded triumphantly as she continued to lay down her dummy hand, putting the lone king of clubs beside trumps, "and this little collection of hearts!" as she displayed and arranged the ace, king, eight and four of hearts; "and also this!" as a length of diamonds—ace, jack, ten, eight, seven and six slithered down the glossy black surface of the bridge table toward Karen Marshall. "Now if you don't make your little slam, infant, don't dare say I shouldn't have jumped you to five!"

"This is where I enter," Tracey Miles whispered hoarsely to Dundee, then, at a nod from the young detective, the pudgy little blond man strode jauntily into the living room, proud of himself in the role of actor.

Karen's hand trembled as she drew the nine of clubs from the dummy, but Penny's fingers were quite steady as she followed with the deuce of clubs, to which Karen added, with a trace of characteristic and rather charming uncertainty, the eight.

"There's our book!" Carolyn Drake exclaimed conscientiously, but she cast an apologetic glance at Penny. "If we take one more trick we set them."

"Fat chance!" Penny obligingly responded, and Dundee, relieved, knew that the farcical game would be played now almost exactly, and with the same comings, as it had been played while Nita Selim was being murdered. Thanks to Penny Crain!

And with a great show of triumph, Carolyn Drake then led the deuce of diamonds, to which Karen added the jack from the dummy, and upon which Karen shruggingly placed her king, to find the trick, as she had suspected in the original game, trumped by the five of spades, since Karen had no diamonds at all.

"So that settles us, Carolyn!" Penny commented bitingly.

Her partner rose to the role she was playing. "Well, as I told you, I always double a little slam on principle. Besides, how could I know they would have a chance for cross-trumps in both clubs and diamonds? I thought you could at least hold the ace of diamonds and that Karen would certainly have one, as I only had four of them."

"And the dummy sitting there with a string of six diamonds!" Penny retorted; then, with a shrug, "Oh, well! Play bridge!" for Karen was sitting staring at her cards helplessly.

"I—I guess I'd better get my trumps out," Karen—now almost a genuine actress, too—breathed tremulously. "I do wish—wish Nita were playing this hand. I know I'll bluff it somehow."

"Good kid!" Dundee thought, and took the liberty of patting Karen on her slim shoulder.

The girl-wife threw him an upward glance of gratitude through misty eyes, then led the six of spades, Mrs. Drake contributing the four, dummy taking the trick with the ace, and Penny relinquishing her three.

"Let's see—that makes five of 'em in, since I trumped one trick," Karen said, as she reached across the table to lead from dummy.

As if the words were a cue—which they probably were—Judge Marshall entered the room at that moment. Judge Marshall, making a great effort to be as jaunty, debonair and "young for his age," as he must have thought he looked when the real game was being played.

At his step Karen lifted her head, smiled tremulously, and greeted her elderly husband with a childlike joy and a womanly tenderness.

"Hullo, darling! . . . I'm trying to make a little slam I may have been foolish to bid, but Nita jumped me from two to five spades—"

"Let's have a look, sweetheart."

THE WOULD-BE PHILANTHROPIST

Not long ago, in a middle-Western state, a man left a will containing numerous large bequests to philanthropic and educational institutions of one kind and another. Naturally there was great rejoicing among the favored beneficiaries. Plans were immediately prepared to make use of the new opportunities given by the fortune about to be received. Because the man making the bequests was never supposed to have any fortune, the joy was all the greater.

When the executors began to look for the property and the securities to meet the bequests, it was found that the generous-minded donor had no estate whatever. His will was simply a magnificent gesture of what he would like to have done had he possessed a fortune. We are afraid, however, the fooled beneficiaries did not appreciate the gesture. The rude awakening to the fact that all their dreams of larger opportunities had gone aglimmering was all the more tragic because they had seen their good fortune, as it were, snatched from their grasp.

This particular hoax revealed that millions of dollars are wasted every year by such would-be philanthropists which can never be found, and that many thousands of dollars are spent in search of the wealth which is supposed to exist. The whole business has become a Captain Kidd treasure hunt which nets nothing but the rapture of pursuing.

We often wonder what lies back of such wanton fooling of those who experience the rude awakening that the god of Tantalus has lifted the cup of plenty to their thirsty lips only to snatch it away just before it reaches them. Is it intended as a joke? Or, is it some vagary of the human mind with a generous impulse desiring expression? It can never be known. The perpetrator of false hopes has passed beyond the jesting or the explaining state.

But a real situation has developed during the past four years of depression which has resulted in practically the same way. A great philanthropist in one of our large cities left millions in his will for charities and educational institutions to which he had given much during his life. On the basis of 1929 values, all of them might have been paid. But in 1932, with depreciated values, there was scarcely enough to meet the needs of relatives. We happen to know of one institution which projected a great building plan on the basis of such a supposed bequest, and entered upon a part of it, only to find itself embarrassed because there was nothing left in the estate.

The moral is clear: Don't rejoice or spend till the money has been turned in. Enough people are fooled every year in the United States to make that wise counsel.

WHAT DOES ITALY MEAN?

A few weeks ago a great flotilla of airplanes belonging to the Italian navy swept over the Atlantic, was generously welcomed and entertained by our public officials and our business organizations, and has returned to the homeland. Italy is a poor country, and it must have cost considerable money to make this friendly visitation. We remember that the Italian government only sent over a small pittance of its debt owed to us last June on the supposition that it was unable to meet the obligation.

And now we read in the papers that 190 Italian cadets are arriving in New York the coming week on two sailing vessels for a twelve-day visit. They are commanded by a staff of the Italian navy of high-powered experts. Already plans are afoot to give them a royal welcome while here, and after the picnic they will return to the homeland.

What is the meaning of all this attention on the part of Italy? Why is it sending over exhibitions of its naval power? We recall that Theodore Roosevelt when President sent the American fleet around the world. It was announced to be a friendly gesture; but afterwards it was revealed to be a move to show the "cockeyed world" that Uncle Sam could not be fooled with. Of course, we have no fears of Italy. But the "good will" manifested in sending these exhibitions of naval power overseas ought to be more impartially distributed.

TRY TO GET THIS STRAIGHT

Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton was introduced in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, yesterday as a "good actress and a clever showman" and "the most widely advertised woman evangelist in history" and her ire rose.

Regarding the introduction she said: If it had been me I would have just curled up and nearly died; but when they attack Christ, all the blood of my ancestors for generations rises in my veins, and I must stand up and defend my faith.

Mrs. Hutton shows excellent taste in representing the charge of salesmanship and showmanship placed upon one of the Master's most devoted servants. Several years ago a popular writer wrote a book in which he brazenly called attention, by citing instance after instance, to the advertising genius exhibited by the Master.

If there were any at that time who resented the casting of Christ in the role of a high pressure salesman, we didn't hear of it. It didn't seem very good taste, but at that time high pressure salesmanship was an accredited and legitimate means to the end.

Little we thought, however, that Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton would be the first to recognize the poor taste of showmanship and the Master's business. And we don't feel that we have it very straight yet.

THE GENERAL TURNS THE TRICK

It seems that General Johnson stopped overnight at Dayton, Ohio. His baggage had gone astray and he presented himself at the hotel desk minus that important concomitant of respectability. The august clerk would not give him a room. A newspaperman who accompanied General Johnson informed the clerk of the latter's identity. Rules were rules and the clerk refused to extend hospitality to General Johnson, his respectability being unrecognizable without baggage, to the eyes of the clerk. Whereupon General Johnson remarked: To H— with this place, and walked out.

Hotel clerks aren't like that as a general rule. It is such a one as this which makes us appreciate the rest the more. Anyhow we remember a night in an Ohio town, when we had been trying to make a considerable distance in a short time, that we arrived too late to be respectable at a hotel in one of Ohio's small cities and the clerk would not give us a room. It happened that the hotel, which was the only one open at that hour, was so uninviting that we didn't care much whether we stayed or traveled on, by the looks of things being in for a night of it either way. But at that as we turned and left we wished that we were a rajah, or a star, or a banker, and looked the part, so that we could say as we turned about and left, "to H— with this place" and have our departure satisfyingly devastating to the clerk.

Unemployed St. Louis shoemaker is writing an opera which, probably, will contain some very solemn music.

NRA IMPARTIALITY NECESSARY

The crucial point in the President's whole recovery program is the exercise of impartiality toward all units of industry, regardless of size or strength.

The old truism that a chain is only as strong as its weakest link has a perfect parallel in this program. If, as is reported this morning, the automobile manufacturers have been granted special dispensation in the retention in the code of the clause regarding the open-shop policy, which has been a cause of contention in the steel industry and the coal industry, as well as the automobile industry, it is an evasion of the code which may have a distressing effect on the whole program.

Absolute fairness to all, laborer and manufacturer, small business man and big business man, is, in the minds of the people, the saving grace of the "new deal." If the program incurs the opposition of organized labor, the leadership that organized labor affords, added to the disappointment of the people regarding the fair administration of the N. R. A., will have power to make trouble.

The chagrin of the masses, caught up by a group of leaders and made much of, will constitute a serious if not a fatal handicap to the administration.

Timing The Century Plant

Christian Science Monitor

New Yorkers have a grievance. The Agave americana has let them down. For the last two weeks crowds have visited the Bronx Park Botanical Gardens braving the heat and the cold of a typical Atlantic coast summer in order to be among those present at the festive florescence of the century plant, as the Agave americana is called in circles not botanical. But although two weeks have elapsed since it reached its one hundredth year, not a bloom nor a bud has appeared.

Erudite botanists explain it away, in the ruthless manner experts have of presenting facts pleasant and unpleasant, by declaring it is all a mistake. Not on the part of the plant, but on the part of the public. It is quite erroneous, they say, to suppose that the Agave americana breaks into bloom only when it is 100 years old. It is true that the plant flowers but once, and that it has been known to do so until the century mark was reached in its existence. They produce odd facts, however, proving that a very pleasant legend is unfounded and that the plant may blossom before or after that age.

All of which may be confirmed by anyone who will turn to the encyclopedias where he may discover the many and curious idiosyncracies of the genus Amaryllidaceae. Probably, however, many will prefer to abide stoutly in the picturesque conviction that the century plant must await the five-score-year mark to achieve the glory of its transient bloom. So hard is it to part with the cherished belief that plants—and people—are the slaves of time. Yet the thoughtful will reflect that every time the world is roused by the appearance of a so-called youthful prodigy in the realm of intellect or art, or by the vigor of a veteran in statecraft or industry, such limitations are increasingly disproved.

Perhaps the varying phenomena offered by different century plants may do their little part in serving as an illustration that, after all, growth need not always wait on time; that maturity is not inexorably dated by a calendar.

San Francisco's Joe Makes Nation Talk

San Francisco Chronicle

Joe Cronin's San Francisco friends are noting that he has done more than put his Washington Senators away out front in the American League. He has given the baseball fans something new to talk about.

In other years there have been outstanding elubs. But in each case there was an obvious reason. The Tinker-to-Ever-to-Chance combination accounted for the old-time Cubs. Connie Mack had his $100,000 infield and the Plank-Combs-Bender pitching staff at the same time. The later Yankees had the famous "murderers' row" of batters headed by Ruth and Gehrig. And so with every former-day leading team.

But the Washington Senators have no star combinations. Infield, outfield, behind the bat or in the pitcher's box their average is just that—average. So the fans trying to solve the mystery fall back on Joe Cronin.

That San Francisco product is not the whole show, but he has put something into the water bucket that makes the other players work together to win games. He has proved himself not only a great player but a great manager, which is an achievement for a 26-year-old who holds the record as the youngest major league pilot in baseball history.

Maybe it can be accounted for by the San Francisco climate in which Joe grew up.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

A MATTER OF CHOICE

One needn't search far for contentment.
For in many a leaf shaded spot
By murmuring stream
He may find peace and dream
Though fortune has found him or not.
There are whispering willows about him
And robins to sing him to rest,
And the clouds wander by
In a crimsoning sky
When the sun slowly sinks in the West.

The days bring no cares and no worries,
One may live upon plain, frugal fare;
The scent of the hay
Stacked just over the way
Is sweet on the afternoon air.
From the fields comes the lowing of cattle.
From aloft sounds the call of the crow,
While swift shadows pass
Like ghosts on the grass
As the afternoon clouds come and go.

Away from the roar of the city
Afar from the noise of the street,
Leaving troubles behind,
One may easily find
Such a peaceful and sylvan retreat.
On winding and reed-bordered rivers
The neighborly hilltops look down;
Go there and forget
All your grief, all your fret;
As for me, I shall stick here in town.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

PREACHING IS NOT ENOUGH

An ideal is useless unless somebody invents a technique for its application.

All minor differences on details aside, I am enormously impressed by the way in which President Roosevelt has kept the mere preaching of ideals at a minimum and work on techniques of application at a maximum in the first months of his regime.

Not even the Ten Commandments are self-operating.

Since the machine age got under way ten thousand and one new methods of breaking every one of the Ten Commandments have been found.

Even good preaching of the Ten Commandments must today translate each of them into terms of the new ways they may be broken.

For years publicists and politicians have been preaching that our old anti-trust legislation is obsolete and that greater freedom to act cooperatively should, under proper safeguards, be given to fields of business and industry.

Mr. Roosevelt has said very little about this but has made it practically possible unless the courts throw a monkey-wrench into the machinery.

For years publicists and politicians have said the national income should be spread more widely if we are to keep our high-powered productive machine going.

Mr. Roosevelt has delivered no long harangues on this issue but has provided both blue prints and the emotional drive to a national plan for actually doing the trick.

For years publicists and politicians have denounced child labor.

Mr. Roosevelt has said very little about child labor but has calmly put a quietus on this national shame and then said simply how happy its ending made him. Adept as he is in going directly to the popular mind, the outstanding mark of Mr. Roosevelt to date has not been his fervent appeals but his practical applications.

FEARFUL DISCIPLINE

"Take Tommy along with you, Joe. He hasn't been out today and I am too busy to watch him." "I'm going to play ball on the lot. How can I take care of him?" "O give him something to play with and he won't bother you. He has to get out of the house and that's all about it. Take him along."

Grumbling and growling under his breath Joe took Tommy's hand and they wandered down the street. Tommy being three and Joe eleven. When they reached the lot the team demanded to know what was to be done with Tommy.

"What did you bring him for? He'll get all over the place and get himself hurt. You big sap. If the kid gets hurt who'll be blamed for it?"

"I had to bring him. My mother made me. I'll fix him all right. He won't bother us any."

Joe led Tommy to a grassy corner in the lot. Sat him down and laid a long piece of twine that he fished out of his pocket in front of him. "Don't go by that snake, Tommy. If you do it will bite you."

The boys laughed but Joe looked very stern and solemn and the little chap on the grass eyed the long string in fear. He began to cry. "I don't want to stay here. I want to go home."

"No. You can't go home and you'd better stop hollering or the snake will bite you. He won't stand for your hollering."

Poor Tommy sat and eyed the string for a long time and then he fell asleep, exhausted. He cried on the way home. He cried at supper time and he kept on crying in the night.

"I can't imagine what ails the child. He hasn't an ache nor a pain that I can find but he keeps on whining and whimpering. Seems to have a little temperature. Joe, did you give Tommy anything to eat?"

"Not a thing."

"Well, if he isn't any better in the morning I'll send for the doctor. I've never seen him so restless."

Joe made his mistake in childish language. There is no excuse for the grownup person who uses fearful discipline to control children. Children have an instinct.
